Bullet Found in Body Of Dead Sooke Hunter

Death First Termed 'Accidental Fall'; Charge May Be Laid

Death of a Sooke hunter Saturday, at first reported due to an accidental fall, took a new turn today when it was disclosed there was a bullet in his spine.

Police, investigating the case, said a charge of murder may be laid, but declined details until their investigation is complete.

The dead man is Ivan "Bud" Nelson of Elder's Logging Camp.

An inquest has been tentatively set for Thursday but so far no autopsy has been held and police are awaiting a ruling from the Attorney-General's department.

The bullet was apparently discovered while a party of stretcher bearers labored to bring the body from the Muir Creek area. The body was found in a 100-foot cliff.

A corporal and a constable from the CIB of the Victoria detachment RCMP drove to Sooke and hiked overland to the death scene this morning.

Corporal D. G. Rogers and Constable Keith McKenzie wore bush clothing and took ropes with them. It is expected the pair will investigate the cliff face before any charge is laid.

Bullet Pierced Lung, Missed Heart

The 22-year-old logger was shot by a rifle bullet which reportedly pierced his lung, missed the heart and drove itself into his spine.

He is survived by his wife, the former Daisy Pelke of Saanich. The couple recently had their third child.

Nelson is said to be one of a family of 14, well-known in Sooke. His father is described as a soldier.

Original reports of Nelson's death came from the lips of a younger half-brother, Jimmy Nelson, who ran a mile through rugged heavily-brushed country to bring aid.

He arrived breathless at Elder's Logging Company where he sobbed out a hysterical story to Max Elder. The dead man had lived at the camp.

Jimmy said that he had accompanied the older man on a hunting trip and at about 3.30 p.m. they had been cutting across a cliff face near Muir Creek when "Bud" suddenly lost his hold and fell.

The falling man struck a ledge 30 feet below then bounced to another rock outcropping about 30 feet further down.

"He was unconscious but moaning at first," the boy said, describing "Bud's" condition when he climbed down to him.

Mr. Elder led a party of eight men to the scene, but the boy remained in camp. The party was joined by Sooke Constable Peter Humphries.

Following Jimmy's directions, the search party found the body. "It looked as though he had fallen on his head," Mr. Elder recalled later.

The body was still 50 feet

Worker Wins Bail

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UP) — Joseph Sidney Peterson Jr., 40-year-old former government employee accused of stealing military secrets from the hush-hush National Security Agency, was freed over $10,000 bond today over the vigorous protests of justice department attorneys.

WILSON

A demand for the resignation of U.S. Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, left, was made today by CIO president Walter Reuther, right, because of remarks made Monday by the defense chief in discussing unemployment. Reuther has taken umbrage because Wilson, in suggesting the nation's unemployed could do a lot to help themselves, made the remark: "I like bird dogs better than kennel-bred dogs." Reuther, shocked by the comparison, has protested to President Eisenhower. Wilson and Reuther are old adversaries. Wilson was formerly head of General Motors, while Reuther was president of Auto Workers' Union. (See story, Page 3).

Mendes-France Easily Wins Confidence Vote

French Assembly Backs Arms Pact, Foreign Policies

PARIS (AP) — The French National Assembly today gave Premier Pierre Mendes-France a resounding vote of confidence in his foreign policies, endorsing the London accords for West German rearmament.

Unofficial reports gave the premier 365 votes. An absolute majority is 314.

Members of the premier's own Radical-Socialist moderate party, various centre and right-of-centre groups, followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle and most of the French Socialists made up the majority backing Mendes-France.

The Socialist party's national executive had decided Monday night to authorize the 104 Socialist deputies to support

Mendes-France on the general principles of the nine-power accord which would put arms again in the hands of 500,000 German troops, this time for Western defense.

In the final stage of the debate today, each parliamentary group was restricted to one speaker.

Mendes-France staked the life of his government on the confidence vote. Failure to gain a majority would mean his immediate resignation and possibly new national elections. Success would give him a solid mandate to continue negotiations with the other Western powers later this month when the nine foreign ministers meet here to fill in details of the London accords.

Nehru Would Like To Retire Temporarily

NEW DELHI, India (UP) — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today he would like to "retire temporarily" as the head of India's government.

But he emphasized that he has no intention of "withdrawing into the wilderness."

Nehru, who earlier had described himself as weary and anxious to be relieved of the duties of leading India's Congress Party, said he would welcome temporary retirement as prime minister in order to regain freshness of outlook.

5,500 Ford Workers Strike at Windsor

Rain-Drenched Pickets Guard Plant, Offices; No Violence Reported; 11th-Hour Talks Fail

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Rain-drenched pickets from Local 200, UAW-CIO, guarded all gates of the Ford of Canada plants and offices today, the first full working day since the strike of 5,500 production workers took effect. Office workers squeezed through the lines of pickets after only casual checking.

Some maintenance workers were asked to get union passes before being admitted. There was no sign of violence but added delay, because of the checking process, caused a traffic tie-up at the plant.

A mass membership meeting was held at the Windsor arena, where union leaders brought up to date the failure of negotiations.

Workers in the powerhouse property of the company remained on their jobs.

Company offices were set up in a downtown hotel.

The strike action was called by Local 200 officials as scheduled at 9 p.m. Sunday after desperate talks under Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daley and conciliation officer Louis Fine, failed to find a compromise acceptable to both parties.

Mr. Daley had called the company and union to meet him last Friday and for three days explored all possibilities of settlement. The meetings collapsed six hours before the strike deadline.

In announcing the failure of the talks, Mr. Daley said: "This is the kind of statement I don't like making. I regret I have to report our efforts have failed and we have been unable to resolve this dispute."

"The situation appears hopeless."

DANIEL MALAN

Malan Says He'll Retire On Nov. 30

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan, grim-faced fighter for white supremacy and racial segregation in the Union of South Africa, announced today that he will retire from office Nov. 30.

The leader of South Africa's Dutch-descended Boer population summoned his official family to the prime minister's residence here and told them his decision is irrevocable.

He added that he also will give up his seat in Parliament and retire to his home at Stellenbosch, in Cape province.

Announcements of his decision did not give any reason for the retirement. He was 80 last May 22.

The National party chief did not name his successor, but political circles believe he has chosen Finance Minister N. C. Havenga, who in 1951 merged his Afrikaner party with Malan's National faction to form the present-day National party.

The Nationalists hold majorities in both Houses of Parliament.

SURPRISED

The unexpectedness of Malan's decision was reflected in the surprised tone today of Die Burger, principal mouthpiece of the Nationalist government and a newspaper Malan was the first to edit.

Malan took over the premiership in 1948 after his Nationalists won parliamentary control from the United party of the late Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts.

South Dakota Prison Rioters Ask for Probe

Two Guards Still Held as Hostages

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP)—Three hundred rioting prisoners at the South Dakota State Penitentiary agreed today to return to their cells and release guards held as hostage if Mayor Fay Wheelon of Sioux Falls would agree to head an impartial investigating committee.

As evidence of their good faith, the prisoners released one of the three guards they were holding.

"We are turning this guard loose so you can see he is all right and he can tell you the others are all right," said Floyd Lindbergh, a life-term prisoner who acted as spokesman for the rioters.

He said the other two guards would be held until Wheelon made his reply.

The riot exploded Monday evening in the dining room as the prisoners were finishing their evening meal. Tear gas was used to drive the prisoners from the dining room to the cell block where they held sway during the night.

This morning the prisoners asked for a conference with newspaper men and asked for a committee to investigate their grievances.

PRISONER DIES

One death occurred during the rioting. Harry High Elk, serving a burglary term, died after drinking hair tonic.

Two state Republican officials said accusations concerning the prison by a Democratic candidate for attorney-general figured as a cause of the outbreak. However, the candidate and a spokesman for the rioting prisoners blamed conditions within the prison.

20 Million Britons Miss Papers for Day

Union Feud Closes 19 Plants;
Old Papers Sold as Tube 'Shield'

LONDON (AP)—London presses rolled again Monday night, turning out news for the metropolitan area's millions, after a one-day strike by 19 workers had led all the 13 morning and evening papers to stop publication.

A settlement was announced without details in a joint statement by the Newspaper Proprietors Association and the Printing and Kindred Trades Federation after hours of discussion.

"Conditions of resumption of work," the statement said, "were agreed . . . As a result, normal production was resumed."

The stoppage was the climax to a feud between two pressroom unions, the National Society of Operative Printers and Assistants and the Printing Machine Managers Trade Society.

The newspapers affected by the strike normally print more than 20,000,000 copies daily. Two alone, The Mirror and Express, each sell more than 4,000,000 copies a day. Others such as The Chronicle, Mail, Herald and Telegraph are well over the million mark.

Londoners, among the world's keenest newspaper readers, took the strike sadly. Commuters traveled to work and back looking lost without their usual papers. Station bookstalls reported a sellout of magazines.

"One dealer advertised old papers for sale with a notice saying: 'Useful for carrying under the arm or hiding behind on trains.' These sold well."

WORTH IT

As a commuter put it: "It's worth splashing a shilling to have some shield against those Monday morning faces."

The only national newspaper to reach the capital was the influential Manchester Guardian.

The BBC lengthened its newscasts. Much of the extra time

DUFRESNE

DISQUALIFIED FROM OFFICE for 10 years are Fernand Dufresne, left, and Armand Brodeur, who were among 18 members of Montreal police department indicted by Mr. Justice Francois Caron for tolerating vice and gambling in Canada's largest city. Dufresne, former police director, and Brodeur, former assistant director, were each fined $7,000 in addition to being disqualified. Fines levied against all those found at fault totalled more than $25,000. Present police director, J. Albert Langlois, one of the 18, is appealing his dismissal from office. (CP Photos.)

Montreal Police Union Asks 'House-Cleaning'

Brotherhood Demands End of Political Influence in Promotions; Backs Firings

MONTREAL (BUP)—A ruthless house-cleaning of the police force, including the elimination of political influence in promotions, was demanded today by the 2,200-member Montreal Policemen's Brotherhood.

Sgt. J. P. Lapointe, president, said the brotherhood fully supported the findings contained in Mr. Justice Francois Caron's vice probe judgment, but "beyond shadow of doubt the police force was, as a whole, honest."

Lapointe said the brotherhood would ask the city for a "complete reorganization" of the police force, including formation of a special school to teach and train men, besides "a complete reclassification of all jobs so each man will know his duties, responsibilities and rights."

The brotherhood also would demand "a complete revision of the promotion system by excluding political influence, and an adequate code of discipline based in laws of evidence," Lapointe said.

Cuba Prepares For Hurricane

1,000 Seek Shelter at Navy Base
As 'Hazel' Heads in From Sea

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—The navy ordered nearly 1,000 women and children into hurricane shelters at its huge base on Cuba's Guantanamo Bay today and sent its surface vessels scurrying to sea to escape the oncoming fury of Hurricane Hazel.

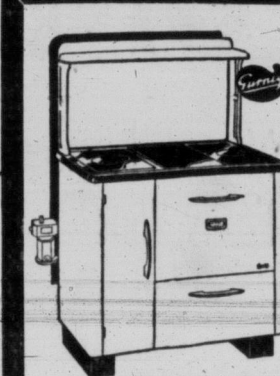

The first light sprinkle of rain began falling on the base, a warning of the 115-mile-an-hour winds expected later.

Since midnight Monday Hazel has been churning up Windward Passage, the straits between Haiti and Cuba.

Cuba's first hurricane death was reported from Santiago on the extreme eastward tip of the island. An unidentified fisherman was washed to his death while trying to fasten down two small boats. Heavy seas lashed the town.

Officials said they do not expect the full force of the howling storm to hit Guantanamo. But high winds and slashing rains are indicated. Precautions were ordered after it appeared that the storm was headed directly for the big naval base.

The hurricane shelters into which women and children were ordered are Quonset huts cov-

MAINGUY 'INVENTION'

Tass Denies Reports Red Subs on Coast

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Tass, the official Soviet news agency, tonight denied that any Russian submarines are operating along the Canadian coast, either in the Pacific or the Atlantic.

The Tass report referred to a statement made in Victoria last week by Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of Canada's naval staff, as an "invention."

Admiral Mainguy said here Russian submarine activity has been "continually" reported off Canada's coasts during the last 18 months.

"We continually get reports and see no reason why some of them shouldn't be true," he said in an interview.

'Kennel-Dog' Remark May Cost Wilson Job

Reuther Demands Key Defense Man Apologize or Quit

DETROIT (UP)—CIO president Walter Reuther has demanded that Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson "retire from public life" or apologize for saying that although he is sympathetic with the unemployed, he likes "bird dogs better than kennel-fed dogs."

In an angry telegram to President Eisenhower, Reuther said he was "shocked" at Wilson's remarks made at a news conference Monday.

Wilson, in answer to news-men's questions about unemployment, said: "While I have sympathy for the jobless and labor surplus areas, I also like bird dogs better than kennel-fed dogs. Bird dogs hunt around for their food while kennel-fed dogs sit upon their haunches and yell."

"Until I saw this story," Reuther said in his telegram to Mr. Eisenhower, "I had believed we were decades past the day when allegedly civilized men thought such things, let alone expressed them aloud and in public."

"Perhaps this is another example of Mr. Wilson's having again put his foot in his mouth publicly," Reuther said.

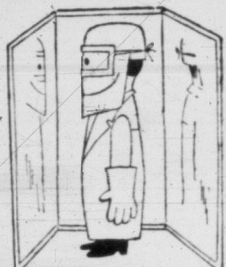

"I hope that this is the case. If it is, Mr. Wilson should retract publicly and apologize to the unemployed. If it is not, if Mr. Wilson's point of view is a considered opinion, he then should be asked to retire from public life, for such a point of view is immoral and incompatible with the purposes of free government."

Reuther said "workers all over America are now waiting to see whether your secretary of defense expresses the attitude of your administration toward the unemployed workers."

Reuther blamed Wilson and the General Motors Corporation, which Wilson headed before becoming defense secretary, for the increase in unemployment in the automotive industry.

He said the unemployed to whom Wilson referred "are jobless in substantial part because of the irresponsibility of his corporate colleagues in General Motors and other major auto corporations."

FLAG, CONSTITUTION ESSENTIAL SAYS PINARD

TORONTO (BUP)—Secretary of State Roch Pinard, the newest member of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent's cabinet, today urged the adoption of a Canadian flag and a Canadian constitution.

Both contentious questions have been pigeon-holed by the St. Laurent administration in recent years. But Pinard, who joined the cabinet this summer after nine years as Member of Parliament for Chambly-Rouville, Que., told a Toronto audience:

"A nation is not free which has not its own constitution, its own autonomous institutions and a national flag."

Russians to Quit Key Manchurian Port

Peiping, Moscow Agree on Soviet Withdrawal From Port Arthur, Occupied Since 1945

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia and Communist China will follow Monday's declaration of "complete unity" with a new demand for Korean unification talks—this time with several Asian countries sitting in—Western observers in Moscow forecast today.

They predict that the Russians at the same time will launch a propaganda drive aimed at withdrawal of foreign troops from Germany, a step suggested by Foreign Minister Molotov last week in East Berlin.

The joint communique issued on Monday night from Peiping marked the end of negotiations between the two governments which began Sept. 29.

The Russian delegation to Peiping was headed by Nikita Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party. Defense Minister Nikolai Bulganin and Trade Minister Anastas Mikoyan also participated. The Chinese delegation was led by Premier Chou En-lai.

Russia made several concessions to Communist China, the communique said, regarding the most important Russia's agreeing to pull its troops out of Port Arthur, the key south Manchurian port on the Yellow Sea, 200 miles west of Korea, before the end of next May. Russia has occupied Port Arthur since 1945.

Russia will also collaborate with China in building two big rail networks, one stretching from China to Siberia through Mongolia and the other linked to the south Siberian network at Alma Ata in Kazakhstan province. The two countries also pledged to build additional communication facilities.

Russia also agreed to aid Communist China in further industrial construction and to Disarmament Proposals Attract U.S.

Willing to Discuss Subject With Soviet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United States said today the latest Soviet proposals on disarmament appear to open an avenue for further discussion and "we definitely do not reject them."

The U.S. position was stated by ambassador James J. Wadsworth in the United Nations General Assembly's 60-country political committee.

Wadsworth said the Soviet proposals still leave many obstacles to be overcome, but added:

"We are still hopeful that these Soviet proposals represent an important step in the direction of an agreed disarmament program. They must, however, be clarified and elaborated. Large segments of the disarmament program are not touched at all in these proposals."

Wadsworth said that the United States would be ready to support re-activation in the five-member disarmament sub-committee which held secret talks in London last spring in an unsuccessful attempt to resolve the disarmament deadlock.

Big Crowd Sees Record Broken At Annual Motorcycle Climb

Vetran motorcyclist John Collyer set a new record for the course and took both top trophies in Victoria Motorcycle Club's 33rd annual Thanksgiving Day hill climb on Mount Douglas Monday.

Collyer's time of 5.7 seconds for the 240-foot incline was done on a B.S.A. "650" machine, and bettered Newt Cameron's 1953 record by 2 of a second.

Paul Giradoux Trophy went to Collyer for his record and he won the Vancouver Island championship for a six-second ride in the latter event, beating 14 other riders.

Runners-up in Vancouver Island event were Joe Hyde, only grandfather competing, and Newt Cameron. Their times were 6.4 and 6.6 seconds respectively.

Second in the Paul Giradoux race, a closed club event, was Charles Arnold with 6.4 and Newt Cameron with 6.6 seconds. An estimated 1,000 persons turned out in cool but sunny weather to witness races which were split into four major events. Each rider had two chances to set competing times.

The afternoon went unmarred by major accident, with only Newt Cameron sustaining injury. His bike turned turtle at the starting line in the Paul Giradoux event, giving him a badly cut finger, but after St. John Ambulance treatment he was able to re-ride.

Most times ranged between seven and nine seconds, with the slowest recorded being 15. Most riders managed to complete the full course on both individual attempts.

The 45" novice event was taken by Roy Chester with a time of 6.9 seconds. Al Duffus was second with seven and Henry Lou third with 7.8.

Politically Burnt Offerings

LAST THURSDAY ATTORNEY General Robert Bonner disclosed to the press that a recommendation had gone from Victoria to a joint committee of the Senate and Commons on the subject of lotteries. The recommendation was in answer to a questionnaire sent out to each province last spring by the committee and it expressed approval of lotteries, operated under certain restrictions, for charitable purposes.

The questionnaire was addressed to the Attorney General of British Columbia, an office held by Mr. Bonner by reason of his appointment by the Premier of this province. It is therefore very difficult to believe that Mr. Bonner's answer to the questionnaire was that of a simple citizen asked for his personal opinion, or that the federal committee considered that it was receiving the personal opinion of an individual and not that of the provincial government for which the Attorney General, by reason of his leadership of the legal department, was the appropriate spokesman on such a topic.

Yet this is what Mr. Bonner now asks the public to believe. He says in a typed statement: "It should be made clear that the view of the Attorney General was sought in this questionnaire and not that of the Government of this Province. This being a Federal question under review, I have communicated, of course, only my personal view for the consideration of the Federal committee."

It is noteworthy that although Mr. Bonner spoke to members of the press gallery on the morning following publication of the reply to the lotteries questionnaire, he betrayed no dissatisfaction with the newspapers' handling of the matter. The support for lotteries was viewed as an obvious opinion of the Government and had been so treated in the news. It was not until after a cabinet meeting on Friday that the Attorney General summoned the press in haste and issued his declaration clearing the Government of holding the views he had relayed to Ottawa.

This clarification of position was all the more interesting in view of the fact that Public Works Minister Gagliardi had already been quick to repudiate any suggestion of support for lotteries, and that a widespread protest had been raised by church spokesmen and other citizens on moral and practical grounds.

Mr. Bonner's subsequent denial of Government complicity would be more plausible if similar situations had not arisen in the Social Credit hierarchy on several previous occasions. The sight of cabinet ministers being left out on limbs, to square themselves with the public as best they can, has become familiar on the political scene of this province. It is obvious that on many questions of principle and practice the Premier and his cabinet appointees are often at loggerheads, and they have not yet mastered the technique of hiding this fact from the public.

The situation, of course, has its advantages. From the calculated or unpremeditated public utterances of his colleagues the Premier is enabled to get a foretaste of public opinion before he himself becomes committed to any course of action. Such kite-flying, planned or otherwise, provides a convenient gauge of the voters' sentiments and enables the Premier to chart his official course accordingly. It is a handy device for any leader seeking to establish himself as a prophet of the people, but it's a little rough on the sacrificial lambs.

St. Roch and Labrador

A SIMPLE BUT MOVING picture of Canada's future north-land development was offered members of Victoria Chamber of Commerce by the gallant skipper of HMCS Labrador, Capt. Owen Robertson, at a luncheon meeting here last week.

In the modest style which becomes members of the Senior—and "Silent"—service, Capt. Robertson told of the vast resources of iron ore, copper, oil and coal which lie under the rim of the Arctic.

"I know these resources exist," he said, "because I have seen them with my own eyes." And later, in answer to a question from his audience, the Victoria-born captain said: "Make no mistake about it, this is Canadian territory."

In many respects, this was an historic meeting, for seated at the head-table with other service dignitaries was Supt. Henry Larsen, who had sailed the 80-ton St. Roch both ways across the Passage. Thus, at one table, were gathered the only two Canadian skippers to have successfully negotiated the storied waters.

This week the St. Roch sails for Vancouver, to take up an honorable retirement as a civic museum. It is altogether fitting that this symbol of another era should be accompanied by the spanking, white Labrador, the ship which proved that large naval craft can operate in the ice-fields, and thus opened up new vistas.

Canada owes much to Supt. Larsen and Capt. Robertson. Between them they have proved that the ancient Cabot dream of a new North-west Passage which would open up untold riches is indeed a reality.

Pax Plante's Victory

AT LONG LAST, MONTREAL's vice probe has come to an end. The report of Mr. Justice Francois Caron confirmed what every Canadian knew all along—that Montreal was the unrivaled sin-centre of the Dominion. What surprised many citizens was the fact that Montreal was prepared to do something about it.

In a sweeping indictment, in which evidence of widespread gambling, prostitution and dope addiction was adduced, Mr. Justice Caron took action against 20 members and former members of the police department. Police Chief Albert Langlois was fired and three other top officials were heavily fined.

This decision must be regarded as something of a Pyrrhic victory for crime-buster Pacific ("Pax") Plante, who launched the whole investigation six years ago. Mr. Plante won a conviction against Harry Ship, the renowned "boy gambler" of Montreal, but shortly thereafter was dismissed from his post. It must be small consolation to Mr. Plante to find, at this late date, that the courts substantiate his contention that Montreal was a "wide-open city."

Another Distinction for Marian

NOT ONLY BECAUSE IT HAS shown recognition of a great voice, but because it has moved a step closer to the elimination of discrimination, the Metropolitan Opera Company's engagement of Marian Anderson should be widely applauded.

This is the first occasion, according to news reports, that the Met has signed a Negro artist. It is significant that the choice has been Miss Anderson.

Many years ago the distinguished contralto centred a cause celebre when the Daughters of the American Revolution were, successful in preventing her appearance from a certain platform in what at that time appeared to be a flagrant example of color prejudice. The narrowness of the attitude received national and international attention when Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt interceded to have her perform under auspices many considered superior to those of the discriminating group.

Action by the Met marks another important step in Miss Anderson's career—a career which has joined the triumphs of a magnificent voice to the steady advance of a standard-bearer in the cause of equality of rights and acceptance beyond the limitations of color.

To Err Is Human

IN ITS ISSUE OF JULY 27 THAT fine British publication, The Illustrated London News, inadvertently moved the capital of B.C. across the gulf to Vancouver—and a great brouhaha ensued. Amends were duly made, in a most cheerful manner, in the issue of September 11 and Victoria's bruised pride restored with an excellent picture of the inner harbor.

Alas, in an intervening issue on the British Empire Games, the News has committed another B.C. "boo-boo." Our handsome Lieutenant-Governor, Clarence Wallace, CBE, is clearly identified in a picture caption (with the Duke of Edinburgh) as "Sir Arthur Porritt, chairman of the B.E.G."

We sympathize with the London Illustrated News in its hour of trial. We sympathize even more with those expatriate Britons, now resident among us, who are constantly telling us that British papers are models of accuracy and that we should take a lesson, etc., etc.

Living in a Horn of Plenty

Prospects Are Brighter

BY WALTER LIPPMANN, From Washington

NOW that the substitute for EDC has been worked out, the prospects for solidarity in the West are brighter than they have been for a long time. Mr. Eden has achieved a brilliant success. He has done it by dealing directly and unequivocally with the crucial defect of EDC.

Lippmann

The long four years of controversy, frustrating as they have been, had shown ever more clearly that a European system and the Franco-German reconciliation which is the keystone of such a system all depend upon Great Britain's resuming her historic role on the Continent. That role is to be the holder and the regulator of the balance of power.

Without Britain participating as a principal in the affairs of the Continent, the Germans are too strong for the security, for the independence and the equality, of their neighbors. When no one is strong enough to withstand the Germans, they are too strong for their own devotion to democracy and freedom. The German Democrats and Liberals know this from bitter experience. It is most significant that Dr. Adenauer is as pleased as is Mr. Mendes-France with the British decision. For the British have given the strongest practical guaranty that the German Republic will be protected against a militarist reaction. That guaranty is the indispensable condition of any confidence in a Franco-German reconciliation.

It has been said that since Britain has had no intention of withdrawing her troops from Germany, what she has done is to make an inexpensive gesture to reassure the excessively nervous French.

DEEPER ISSUES

The issues are deeper than that. There has been a strong opinion in the Pentagon and in Congress that when Germany was rearmament, the American troops in Germany could be reduced to token forces. This view was once attributed to Gen. Eisenhower himself though he has repudiated it since he became President. But it is a commonplace idea among the isolationist Republican Senators, and a year ago it reached the Chiefs of Staff and played a part in their famous "New Look."

As things stood until recently, an American withdrawal from Germany would probably have been followed by a British withdrawal—having been British policy to keep close to and in step with the United States.

Had this threat materialized, France would have been left alone inside Europe with the rearmament Germans. France, moreover, had a considerable part of her army engaged in Indo-China. That in the last analysis was why it was impossible for France to accept the EDC. Had it ever been ratified by some kind of squeeze play, the internal struggle against EDC would have continued to divide the French nation.

When Mr. Eden promised to keep the British army in Germany subject to a vote of the Brussels powers, he banished this nightmare. He put an end to the risk that France might be left alone with a rearmament but divided and discontented Germany.

He also made it practically certain that Canada and the United States would also remain in Germany. Thus there can be no monkeying now with any kind of reappraisal which would build up Germany as the captain of Europe while we brought the boys back home.

THREAT REMOVED

It is no longer a threatening possibility that the Western continent would have a German army in the forward zone and a weaker French army behind it, while the British and the Americans were not really present at all to determine what went on in the forward zone.

Now the West German army is to be formed within an enveloping coalition of armies. So far as the problem is soluble, this solves the problem of how to let Germany have an army for defense and for her own self-respect while preventing her from using that army as a political instrument of her own aggrieved nationalism.

The new agreement contains all the precautions which were in EDC. But it has what EDC lacked, the sure presence of the British and the Americans to enforce the precautions.

The premise of the London construction is that the Soviet Union will not, and probably cannot, agree to the unification of Germany and the withdrawal of the Red Army. This is the official consensus in high quarters in all the European capitals, and it has not been altered by anything that has happened since the death of Stalin.

WORKING ASSUMPTION

The working assumption is that German unification would raise insoluble problems for the Russians and very difficult problems for the Western powers, and that it will not come about soon through a four-power agreement.

For the Russians the unification of Germany would mean that Poland obtained a long frontier with the West, and as a result of that the means and the incentive to work for national liberation. If Stalin's successors are the big commanders, they are not likely to give up the strategic position inside Germany which enables them to remain the masters of Eastern Europe.

But German unification would also present many difficult problems to the West. The London agreements are, naturally enough, silent about these difficulties. The practical assumption is that on both sides of the Iron Curtain "co-existence" is now taken to mean settling down and digging in on the line where Germany is now divided.

PRESS AND SUPPRESSION

Publisher Stuart Keate eulogizes "the service of the press to the public." Thank you, we appreciate the service.

However, the question the public has in mind is: do newspapers deliberately suppress the truth?

Such suppression needs only the consent of the publisher to become effective. In a one paper town, one man. In a two paper town, two men. In a three paper town, three men.

Can we assume every publisher is above reproach? The aberration from the truth of publishers in the past has sometimes been revealed. And the aberration of publishers present, and future, if any, will no doubt be exposed.

Time marches on!

CIVIL DEFENSE

In connection with the firing of nearly all of the civil defense staff in Greater Victoria, I would like to draw attention to the article in Saturday Evening Post, Sept. 25 last, "This School Is Ready for the H-bomb," by Herbert and Dixie Yahraes.

What would happen if an H-bomb struck near our school? a suburban Washington mother asked—and discovered the school was woefully unprepared. Here is the simple, inexpensive and realistic plan the awakened school worked out to save the students from atomic disaster.

The school in question is the Bethesda-Chevy Chase Senior High School—known throughout the Washington, D.C. area as B.C.C. The school has close to 1700 students and teachers; the mother, mentioned above, is Mrs. Alice Johnson, vice-president of the high-school Parent-Teacher Association, where she put this question: "But suppose it's real, then what happens?" "In case of atomic war, there are things every family can do to save itself. But a family can't make until it knows what is being done for the youngsters."

The P.T.A. board-delegated Mrs. Johnson to look into the matter. She contacted Dr. John Balloch, an operations research office staff member specializing in the study of disasters who spent two months on a plan which could meet the situation.

It would take too much space to outline the plan here; but, evidently, the plan is such that its principles can be applied in a general way. And so I think it would only be logical if Canada's Civil Defense organization conferred with U.S. ORO and prepared similar plans for Canada. The whole warning system against a possible Soviet attack is already a joint undertaking.

It will cost money, that stands to reason; but money can hardly be spent better than "to be prepared for the worst."

Read that article and I am sure that most of you will agree.

SHOUTING WON'T DO IT

It is an astonishing fact that so little has been attempted with a view to unite effectively the educational work of the advanced civilized nations.

Bellowing or screaming against communism because it seems to be fashionable to do so, is vain. The theory of communism is being tested in practice, and will live or die according to its own merits, just as unbridled competition for wealth will do.

The number of people in America receiving aid from public funds for services or for no service, is increasing fabulously over the standards of pay received by working men in Canada and the United States a short fifty years back. At that time millions worked hard for little more than bed and board.

Union workmen's call for higher pay from corporation employers is likely to backfire more frequently than in the past. And farmers have been seeing their disadvantages removed in part by their own business combines, though their investments and incomes are far short of encouraging, especially to discriminating youngsters who prefer almost any occupation rather than farm work.

BOOKS FOR THE BOYS

I would like to take the opportunity granted through this column of your paper to again appeal to the people of Victoria to donate their used pocket books to be sent to the Canadian Navy Ships serving in Korean and Far Eastern waters.

The Ladies Auxiliary to Naval Veterans Branch No. 42, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. have collected books in this manner for several years now, and during these years have sent at least 12,000 to 15,000 books to the boys overseas. We feel that it is a very worthwhile project as it provides the men popular and up to date reading material that they are unable to obtain in any other way. The pocket books are compact and easy to pack, where magazines take up too much space and are awkward, so we would appreciate only pocket book donations.

Books may be left at the Office of the Naval Veterans Branch No. 42 at 1417 Broad Street or if you wish them collected phone 4-6714. We would certainly appreciate a good response to this appeal as our supply is very low, and we would like to get a shipment off later this month.

TREND TO BUREAUCRACY

Your masterful treatise on the functions of journalism, and brilliant arrangement of the present tendency of civil, provincial and federal governments to lean towards bureaucratic rule, in Thursday's "Times," was sorely needed.

For far too long have the people been subjected to encroachments on their democratic rights, especially by the Federal Government which by its unwieldy majority and long tenure of office has become more or less indifferent to the will of the people. The public, however, is not altogether blameless, for, as you rightly say, it has imperilled its own freedoms by a lack of interest in matters of vital importance to the country and the people.

Charles James Fox, the great protagonist in defending the freedoms of the people, whilst speaking on the East India Bill in the British House of Commons in 1793 said in part as follows:

"Necessity is said to be the plea of tyranny—it is also the plea of freedom. Freedom, according to my conception of it, commences in the safe and sacred possession of man's property, governed by laws defined and certain, with many personal privileges, natural, civil, and religious, which he cannot surrender without ruin to himself, and of which to be deprived by any other power is despotism. What is the end of all government? Certainly the happiness of the governed."

Taking to and Fetching From

From The Times (London)

WE are not accustomed to think of children as freight. Perhaps if we were the duties of parenthood would present themselves in a clearer and more realistic perspective. In the very early stages, lacking as they do any co-ordinated or effective powers of locomotion, children have, of course, to be carried from one place to another; but the distances involved are generally short.

Among the Red Indians children, once they have left nappies behind them, develop swiftly—or so we have always understood—into hardy, fleet-footed youngsters, padding swiftly and silently through the forest on tireless feet or riding off on long reconnaissance across the pampas, in quest of a herd of caribou or a bit-part in a Western.

Our children for some reason do not seem to develop in this way. They do not, to take a specific example, pad swiftly and silently to their dancing-class, returning to the wigwam at dusk as unobtrusively as they departed.

They have to be taken to their dancing-class in a motor car, and when the last sweet notes of the mambo (or whatever it is they study) have died away, they have to be fetched back again.

OCCUPATIONAL HAZARD
To begin with parents, not realizing how cumulative these responsibilities are going to prove, treat them as a sort of minor and non-recurrent occupational hazard. Time goes on. The children become larger, and slightly less idiotic; one might have expected that they would less frequently require to be transported hither and thither.

The opposite is the case, and very soon the parents, particularly if they live in a rural district, find that their lives have acquired a pattern of Bradshaw-like complexity. At almost every moment of the day, what with Ferdinand's kindergarten, Miranda's pony club, Edgar's dentist and Cordelia's piano-lesson, different children have to be driven, often simultaneously and in opposite directions, to different destinations.

Other children, however, are known to be threading the same labyrinth at the same time, and eventually the parents negotiate regional pacts of mutual assistance. The structure of these is extremely elaborate, but they are seldom very satisfactory.

Like other and more important pacts, they tend both to overlap and to impose greater responsibilities on some members than on others.

The Smiths, for instance, though belonging as it were to E.D.C., cannot become members of N.A.T.O. because none of their children belongs to the pony club. The Greens, whose house is approached by a gated road, are unpopular members of their syndicate. The Browns have a reputation for picking the children up late and the Whites for driving them at reckless speed, while the Blacks' station-wagon, which invariably contains three enormous Alsatians, often delivers its little passengers to their homes on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

The logistic aspects of the whole problem are intricate enough already without these added complications; and the more irresponsible type of parent, contemplating the long winter months ahead, cannot help feeling that a mild but universal epidemic of some childish complaint, which would put everyone comfortably in quarantine, represents the only light at the end of the tunnel.

MARKED for READING

PROBLEM OF OLD AGE

I am sure of one thing, that the virtues of the human spirit expressed in the determination of the old to keep going to the last possible moment, the sense of family loyalty, and the unselfishness of good neighbors, are still with us. The only hopeful and indeed the only realistic way of facing the future is for the community on the one hand, and the family and friends on the other, to join in an active partnership in the care of their old people, for it is quite certain that neither can manage it alone.

—Dr. J. H. Sheldon, president of the third Congress of the International Association of Gerontology.

The Y-Target or Excuse?

RON Hooper, executive secretary of the Community Chest, tells me canvassers are running up against a familiar objection in their current drive. Time and again, he says, volunteers soliciting funds are faced by prospective donors who don't want to give to the YMCA or who think the Y is getting too big a share of the Red Feather dollar.

Ron says he has the answers for such people, but he's not the guy they ask.

The story isn't very complicated and the Y hasn't any apologies to make. Still, if more people knew the facts, probably some of the irritation could be removed and canvassers would be relieved of some of their distress.

In the first place, nobody at the Y thinks everyone in the Greater Victoria community owes it a donation. Nobody at the Y assumes that everyone in this region is its friend and hearty supporter.

But the folks at the Y do know that they have a lot of friends who understand their particular financing arrangements and who are prepared to help out.

This is a pretty rough picture of the association's method of maintaining itself:

The Y provides a widely varied program for boys, young people, and some of the older age grouping. For that it charges certain fees. Except in the case of senior membership, the fees do not meet costs of operation. If they did, some youngsters would be shut out. The deficit is met in part by returns from dormitories where a man can receive cheap, clean and comfortable lodging with a lot of amenities that don't exist in other hostels.

That still leaves a sizeable chunk of money to meet the difference between what the Y receives in direct income and what it spends to do the job it is doing.

Before the days of the Community Chest, YMCA officers and personnel used to organize their own campaign and approach their friends in the community. From those friends they always received enough to plug the gap between revenue and expenditure.

THEIR FRIENDS

They have friends because an unusual number of Victorians know that the Y works efficiently to provide good, constructive and healthy activity for young people—their ages, except for younger tadpoles who learn swimming there, run from nine years upwards.

These friends agree with the triple purpose of the association to develop spirit, mind and body.

When the Y approached only those people who share its ideals, it did not run into those who are not its friends—and the Y like any other agency which provides an active program and stands firm on its principles has its opponents.

But when the Community Chest was introduced here, the social service agencies approached Frank Paulding, then general secretary of the Y, to organize its appeal. A fundamental of the appeal was its effort to avoid a multiple approach to the public for funds. It sought, in the words of the old slogan, to put "all the eggs in one basket." The Y went along with that idea, conscious when it did so of the fact that it could expect criticism from those whose views differ from that of the association.

Those differences arise every year—and are frequently expressed by people who seek some excuse to justify refusal to support the Community Chest. They believe they have a fair target for criticism in the Y and in some instances, admittedly, it is honest criticism.

Unfortunately there are a number of malicious stories circulated to the effect that the Y gives nothing away, that it demands its pound of flesh for every contribution it appears to make to the community.

Veterans of two world wars who belong to the association have done an excellent job of slapping down the old canard about the cheese-paring or unfriendly treatment accorded soldiers overseas. But people who want to believe that the Y did a poor job won't be convinced. And it's reasonable to assume that in the scope of its overseas service, some official of the Y probably did hand some soldier a deal that the soldier thought, rightly or wrongly, was raw.

NO SONG AND DANCE

Then, too, the Y doesn't make too much of a song and dance about the work it does for nothing. It doesn't hold up a kid whose membership is subsidized and shout that if it were not for the big-heartedness of the Y the kid couldn't belong. Any action like that would defeat the purposes of the YMCA which tries to encourage youngsters to give something for what they get.

Beyond all that, the Y isn't satisfied that it has to defend itself. It's trying to do a job and seems to be making a fair list of it. It isn't going to appeal to everybody, but, if membership figures mean anything, it appeals to a great number of people.

So if anyone doesn't want his or her donation to the Community Chest to go to the Y, then the individual is quite within his or her rights in saying so. Preferences may be indicated. There are enough other donors to fill the needs of that particular agency.

But if the individual uses the Y as an excuse for not giving at all—and the only compulsion to give is the person's own conscience—then such individuals are not being quite honest with themselves. It isn't too happy a practice for the person who slips into that type of subterfuge.

SPEAKERS MUST STOP OR BOMB GOES 'BOOM'

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—An "electronic lectern," a reading stand complete with stop lights and smoke bomb, quickly punctured any windbag who rambled on too long at a convention here Monday.

Scientists at a meeting of the Standard Oil Development Co. required all speakers to use the special lectern.

An amber warning light flashed from the lectern when a speaker had two minutes left of his allotted time. A red light told him when his time was up.

If he droned on after the final signal, fumes from a smoke bomb drove him to his seat.

Catholics Warned Against 'Assuming Powers of State'

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas, who won an overwhelming double victory in Sunday's oral plebiscite and congressional elections, warned the Roman Catholic Church Monday it must not "assume the powers of state."

Castillo Armas took the lead in ridding Guatemala of a Communist-supported regime last June. He told a press conference the oral plebiscite on continuing his policies ran about 1,000 to 1 in his favor. He said the nearly complete affirmative vote for him was 165,530.

A Roman Catholic-supported committee, making last-minute entries in the race, asked for support for "Christian democracy."

Ship Holed By Old Mine; 1 Man Killed

Norwegian Freighter Towed to Holland

THE HOOK OF HOLLAND (Reuters)—Survivors from a Norwegian ship ripped open Monday by a mine in the North Sea told today how the captain and 11 men went back to the blazing ship in a bid to get her to port.

The 3,099-ton Folga, breached by a hole about 40 feet long between the bridge and engine room, was towed into harbor here today. Seventeen survivors were brought here by the tug Ebro, which also brought in the body of second officer Nicholas Nielsen, only casualty of the blast.

Capt. Peter Treitnes, 45, and 11 volunteers went back aboard the Folga when the flames died down to try to get her into port, but needed help from the tug.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Inventor of Postcard

LONDON—The average person of our generation doesn't know much more about Gladstone than that this Victorian premier was supposed to be pompous and dull. Well, there's a chance now for all of us to catch up. Sir Philip Magnus has just published a new biography that has received the accolade which every author fondly hopes for—its publication has been regarded by the papers as news to be featured on the news pages instead of among the reviews on the weekly book page. This biographer has received bouquets for breathing life into the character of the great Liberal, something that former biographers haven't managed to do. "It reads like a good novel," was one comment.

It's all there. Disraeli saying of Gladstone that he didn't mind his producing a fifth ace from his sleeve but objecting to Gladstone's assumption that the Almighty put it there. His wife writing a note to him: "Do pet the Queen and for once believe you can, you dear old thing"—but Gladstone never being able to get as close to Victoria as flatterer Disraeli—how his frugality prompted him to invent the postcard.

While on books, there's another one out here which you might like to watch for if you're interested in that type of thing. It's "The History of Unilever," the two-volume story of the soap-plus-so-many-other-things empire which William Hesketh Lever built up to what has now become a $150-million concern.

Reyburn

The wagging tongues of that other sex have been getting a going-over from two well-known males. Gaylord Hauser, here from the U.S., on a lecture tour, has been telling people that the strain of modern life is taking its toll on us. In women the symptom is "talk talk talk" and in men "a strained look and twitching face muscles." A twitch? I always thought it was limbering up to get a word in edgewise.

The other expert on women is London Judge Tudor Rees, who said in court: "A woman's tongue can be infinitely more dangerous than her fists. It is an instrument that can be as soothing as a dulcimer or as venomous as an adder's sting. The use of such an instrument calls for unremitting vigilance."

Someone was bound to think up a Flying Bedstead story. Here's how it goes: When the weird flying contraption was being tried out the test pilot was warned that it had a fantastic rate of climb. "It really zips up into the air," they told him. He said okay, he'd watch it. He got in and away it went—swoosh! In 15 seconds he was up 10,000 feet. In less than a minute he was up 30,000 feet. Up and up it soared—75,000 feet and still climbing. The pilot clutched the controls in wonderment. "Good God!" he said. "Yes?" said a voice behind him.

The theatrical profession in London is now so crowded that they're starting an Artists Pool of Industry. The idea is that factories will be organized at which out-of-work theatre people can work at the benches—and they'll be allowed to drop tools the moment they get a call to appear in a show.

NAZI GENERAL CRUEWELL MAY LEAD WEHRMACHT St. Laurent Sees End To Quebec Wrangle

BONN, Germany (UP)—The new German Wehrmacht probably will be led by Ex-General Ludwig Cruewell, 64, former deputy commander of the Afrika Korps.

Through one of history's ironic quirks, his troops will be trained by the man who shattered the Afrika Korps, Britain's Viscount Montgomery, the hero of Alamein.

General Cruewell was deputy to Gen. Erwin Rommel in the Afrika Korps. He was captured in May, 1942, when his helicopter pilot mistook British troops for Italians and landed in their midst. He was held prisoner the remainder of the war.

Solution to Problems Effecting Province And Nation May Have Been Found, PM Hopes

By MARC E. THIVIERGE
SHERBROOKE, Que. (BUP)—A way may have been found to solve constitutional problems that have kept the federal and Quebec provincial governments at odds for years, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said here Monday.

Mr. St. Laurent, himself a Quebecer and an old boy of the former St. Charles Borromeo College—which became the University of Sherbrooke earlier this year—said his recent talks with Premier Maurice Duplessis in Montreal apparently had paid off.

As a result of the long-standing battle between Ottawa and Quebec over taxation rights, "Quebec failed to obtain the same rights and advantages which the other nine provinces enjoy," the prime minister told a St. Charles Borromeo Old Boys' meeting. He added that the province "has lost millions of dollars each year" which could have been spent in Quebec to further advance Quebec's progress.

But as a result of his talks with the autonomy-conscious Quebec premier, he said, he believed "we have found a way to solve this problem."

"I think we have found a way so that all of us will be members of the Canadian nation; that our national unity will be based on the harmonious co-existence of our two great cultures, and that by exchanging their benefits we will become a united family from one coast to the other," he said.

Mr. St. Laurent said all Canadians must face the fact that events in the past placed the descendants of two races in this country, each with their own language, religion and culture.

"Real patriotism is something which is built on numerous elements, such as our cultures, our rights and our particularities, including the Quebec Civil Code, which is an asset to all Canada; all these elements making of us a united and strong nation," he said.

Referring to his Reform Club speech that brought the dispute with the Quebec government into the open and led to the meeting, the prime minister stated: "When I said the province of Quebec was like any other province in the country, I meant that as regards the constitution, Quebec is a province just like her nine sister provinces and her French culture will never be endangered by behaving like the other provinces."

"Canada is not a collection of various groups of people; it is a unit where people of various tongues, religions and cultures live in harmony from the Atlantic to the Pacific," he said.

Naden Bandsmen to Honor Arctic Ship at Vancouver

The Royal Canadian Navy was scheduled to join with the citizens of Vancouver today in welcoming the RCMP patrol vessel from service and fitted out as an Arctic museum.

The band of HMCS Naden left this morning aboard HMCS Naden, and will play St. Roch alongside when she berths at Burrard Inlet.

The navy's big icebreaker HMCS Labrador which, like the tiny RCMP ship, conquered the Northwest Passage, will follow St. Roch into harbor as a tribute to her pioneering work in the Arctic.

Labrador, which has been at Esquimalt harbor for the past two weeks, left this morning, and St. Roch, which was also here, left early Monday. The two ships were scheduled to rendezvous in Georgia Strait.

Wings Run Second; Rangers Nip Hawks

(By The Canadian Press)

It's the same old story around the National Hockey League these days. Somebody has to figure out how to get more than the occasional win over Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings.

The four clubs that were kicked around by Canadiens and Red Wings last season are still getting the business. The Montrealers, for instance, started off the 1954-55 season with two straight victories. The Red Wings did likewise.

Canadiens didn't win Monday night but they ended up with a 2-2 tie against the Bruins at Boston. The deadlock moved them into first place in the league race with five points, one up on coach Jimmy Skinner's Red Wings.

In games Saturday and Sunday, both Canadiens and the Wings showed they will be the clubs to stop for the league title. Canadiens struck for two goals in the third period at Montreal Saturday to down the Bruins 4-1 while the Red Wings blanked New York Rangers 4-0 and Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks fought to a 3-3 draw.

The Rangers, with centre Danny Lewicki scoring the winning goal, edged the Black Hawks 2-1 before 5,032 fans at Chicago in the only game Sunday.

THREE-WAY TIE
The action left New York in third place with two points. Toronto, Boston and Chicago are tied for fourth.

A crowd of 14,121 was on hand Saturday in Montreal, as Canadiens jumped into a 2-0 lead in the first period, battled through a scoreless second and then outpointed the Bruins 2-1 in the third.

Ken Mosdell, Ed Litzenberger, Bernie Geoffrion and Bert Olinstead scored for Montreal. Leo Labine registered the Boston goal.

It was a little different in the return game at Boston. Labine scored the tying goal at 2:41 of the third session. Mosdell and Geoffrion beat netminder Sugar Jim Henry in this game, too. Don McKenney, 21-year-old rookie centre, tallied the first Boston goal.

All-star right winger Gordie Howe scored one goal—his first of the season—and assisted on another by defenseman Red Kelly as the Wings downed the Rangers Saturday.

KENNEDY GOT TWO

Lewicki scored at 17:08 in the final period to break up the game at Chicago.

The Rangers had gone into a 10 lead at 12:36 of the first session when Paul Ronny beat goaltender Al Rollins on a three-way play with Camille Henry and Bob Crystal.

Johnny McCormack, defensive centre traded to the Hawks by Montreal, made it 1-1 at 12:49 of the second with Gerry Toppazzini getting an assist. Worley made 28 saves. Rollins kicked out 21.

Ted Kennedy, veteran centre whom the Leafs talked out of retirement plans this season, scored two goals in 69 seconds to salvage the tie for Toronto.

McCOLL, PAINTER KEEP GOLF BUTTONS

Vic Painter and Bill McColl, of Colwood Golf Club, made their fourth successful defense of the city golf buttons Sunday by defeating Gordon Pellow and Bernie Rogers of Uplands, 5 and 4.

McColl and Painter were three up at the turn and won the 12th and 13th in pars to consolidate victory after halving the 10th and 11th.

Winners had a best ball of one under par over the Colwood course. Losers were four over.

Lou Just Didn't Deliver — Or Be a Comfort to Ted

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Boudreau was down in the basement of his Illinois home bailing flood waters when the phone rang and he learned from his immediate boss, Joe Cronin, that he no longer was employed as field manager of Boston Red Sox.

Boudreau knows now that no manager can ever afford to let down from his peak performance. The Red Sox obviously hired Lou three years ago to do the kind of managerial job that he had done for Cleveland in 1948, and he simply did not deliver.

In his fabulous year Boudreau played some of the greatest shortstop anyone ever saw, hit .355 and was named the league's most valuable player. His hitting and managing helped beat Boston

Misery in Its Worst Form

There was little joy at this particular moment at Memorial Arena Monday afternoon. For on the stretcher that carried Wayne Brown off the ice with a broken leg went the Cougars' biggest misfortune of many in the still young Western Hockey League season. Brown, being aided by Colin Kilburn, left; Andy Heberton, rear, and an unidentified first-aid man, will be lost to the club for at least six weeks and, possibly longer. The Cougars not only lost Brown, but they lost the game to New Westminster, 4-3.

Vamps Take Grid Crown

Score Double Triumph; League Finale Saturday

Vampires 10, Oak Bay 6; Vampires 12, Navy 6
Ray Mitchell's opportunistic Mayo Vampires, seemingly playing better football every time out, put the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League championship in deep-freeze over the holiday week-end with a pair of vital victories.

Saturday, Vampires broke a first-place deadlock with Oak Bay by downing the floundering Drakes, 10-6. Then, on Monday, Vampires put their first-place lead out of reach by downing an outgunned but spirited Navy squad, 12-6.

The two victories settled the final standings as the only remaining league game sees Drakes meeting Navy, doomed to a last-place finish, next Saturday.

As it stands, Vampires, with four victories, one loss and a tie, are four points up on Drakes, who can do no better than gain two points if they beat Navy next week. The sailors, whose only victory of the season came at the expense of Vampires in the season opener, are out of the two-team playoffs regardless of the outcome of next Saturday's game.

After next Saturday's final league game, Vampires and Drakes will meet in a two-game, total-point series for the play-off crown.

Smart quarterbacking and passing by Wayne Henderson, explosive running of Art Manson, Pete Ash, Charlie Bishop and Archie Gaver, combined with the solid defensive line work of Jumbo Joe Fry and Gordy Gordienko, were the dominating factors in both Vampire victories.

STARRY PERFORMANCE

Henderson, whose ball handling and faking kept both Drakes and Navy befuddled, tossed two touchdown passes against Drakes and one against Navy as he spearheaded a smart T-formation attack.

Navy took the lead in the first quarter of Monday's game when Bishop was rouged after fielding Navy fullback Bob Johnson's towering 45-yard punt.

The sailors almost cashed in for a major when they recovered a fumble on the Vampire 45 and moved the ball down to the 20. However, Vampire end Don Brownlee recovered a Navy fumble on the 18 to end the threat. Minutes later, Navy again fumbled close to payoff territory, Doug Horn recovering on the Vampire 13. Pete Ash broke up a third bid when he intercepted a Navy pass on his own five. Another Navy fumble paid dividends for Vampires in the second quarter. Sailor halfback Bob Buchan, hit hard on an end sweep, had the ball jarred out of his grasp and Ash grabbed it and legged 72 yards for a major. Ash put the finishing touches on the score by converting.

Minutes later, Vampire end Doug Horn made a circus catch of a Henderson pass, taking it off the finger-tips of the Navy safety-man, and fell over the line for the second major. The convert failed but Vampires picked up the point when Ray Negrich was fouled on the following kick-off.

Navy, who threatened through a combination of Johnson's plunges and Jerry Stillson's lengthy heaves, finally hit major pay-dirt in the last quarter. Ray Sherbino was on the receiving end of Stillson's 35-yard heave and was dragged down on the Vampire 15. C. McIvor went through the middle for six and Johnson barreled over centre on the next play, shedding three tacklers, for a touchdown. Navy failed to convert.

On Saturday, Vampires struck through the air for two unconverted touchdowns in the second quarter and held on as Drakes retaliated with a converted major in the third frame.

After a scoreless first quarter, in which Oak Bay fumbled three times, Vampires started rolling. On the first play of the second quarter, Henderson flipped a swing pass to Bishop who scored easily.

Vampires made it 10-0 minutes later, Henderson dropping back to hit Ash with a screen pass on a 25-yard scoring play. Neither major was converted.

WHITE INJURED

Drakes, who were without hard-running Ken Higgs and who lost fullback Red White through a leg injury, showed their best football in the third quarter. Ken West grabbed passes from Bud French and George Wilson to take the ball to the Vampire 15 and Don Donahue completed the bid when he scampered around left end to score. Newcomer Pete Turko, who carried most of the running load for Drakes, converted.

In Division II, ANAF Vets and Eagles remained tied for the lead when Gary Leibel scored for Vets late in the second half to force a 2-2 tie with Eagles.

Eagles led 2-1 at the half on goals by Bill Gandy, on a penalty, and Ed Stefank, countered by Ken Leibel for Vets.

Eagles Blank Army, Retain Soccer Lead

Two one-sided trouncings and one close battle were the features in Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association games Sunday.

In Division I, Eagles stayed two points ahead of the rest of the field by scoring a 5-0 white wash victory over Fifth Regiment. Centre forward Jim Pearson scored a hat trick for the winners and Harry Talbot and Bud Shipley scored single goals.

In the same division, Macs took over second place by beating Belmont Boys Club, 9-1. Jerry Gladson notched four goals for the winners, Eddie Scripsett got three and Frank Obee and Dunc McCaig scored one each.

In Division II, ANAF Vets and Eagles remained tied for the lead when Gary Leibel scored for Vets late in the second half to force a 2-2 tie with Eagles.

Eagles led 2-1 at the half on goals by Bill Gandy, on a penalty, and Ed Stefank, countered by Ken Leibel for Vets.

City Rugger Squads Find Chores Too Tough

Victoria senior rugby teams ran into superior fire-power from the mainland for the second straight weekend and dropped their inter-city matches.

James Bay Athletic Association, hit hard by injuries in the second half, bowed to North Shore All-Blacks, 17-0 at Windsor Park.

Bays held the visitors to a 6-0 lead at the half but the loss of Ray Hanson with a deep facial cut and one other player depleted their ranks in the second half as the All-Blacks ran up the score.

In Vancouver, Oak Bay Wanderers took a 19-3 trouncing from Meralomas. Hamish Bridgeman scored Wanderers' points on a penalty kick.

LOS ANGELES—Ruben Smith, 128, Los Angeles, outpointed Gil Cadillac, 124½, Los Angeles (10).

Don't Cry, John—It's No Goal

The look of anguish distorting John Moss' features were entirely unnecessary Monday afternoon. The ball didn't go in the goal. In fact, it was rebounding off the crossbar even as Moss winced. Cedric Robb, forward for Victoria City, banged the shot and can be seen in Victoria All-Stars' nets, where his momentum carried him, right. Action occurred in first half as City and All-Stars battled to a 2-2 draw in benefit match for injured players.

All-Stars Tie City; Heaneys Lead League

Victoria City 2, Victoria All-Stars 2

A select band of Victoria All-Stars, carrying the banner for the Victoria and District Football Association, held powerful Victoria City of the Coast Soccer League to a well-played 2-2 draw Monday at Athletic Park in an exhibition/benefit game for injured players.

Bullheaded by strong goal-tending on the part of agile John Moss, All-Stars twice battled from behind and scored the tying goal with less than 10 minutes left in the game.

George Wright shot City into a 1-0 lead early in the game but Bobby Marrs of Tillicum tied it up for the All-Stars and the teams were all square with a goal apiece at the half.

Cedric Robb, who alternated at outside and centre forward, blazed in a goal in the second half to give City a 2-1 lead but George Robbins saved All-Stars' bacon with a goal nine minutes from full time.

In league games Sunday, Heaneys took over first place in the first division when they downed JBAA, 4-1. The victory gave Heaneys a one-point edge over Esquimalt.

Second division games saw Wood Motors and Duncan score victories that moved them into a three-way tie with Scottish for second place.

Motors defeated Combines, weakened by suspensions, 5-2, while Duncan broke a 2-2 deadlock in the second half to take a 4-2 nod over Punjab United.

Alouettes, Tiger Cats Still Dominate Big Four

Montreal Alouettes and Hamilton Tiger-Cats feasted high on the leg this Thanksgiving week-end, humbling Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts in both ends of home-and-home Big Four Football Union double-headers.

The big red and white Als, who whomped Riders 24-6 Monday at Montreal after winning 25-11 Saturday at Ottawa, virtually clinched a playoff berth while Hamilton's defending Grey Cup champion Tiger-Cats cut Toronto's mathematical hopes, putting a 22-13 victory at Toronto Monday on top of a 34-6 trouncing of Argos at Hamilton Saturday.

Montreal, with eight wins in nine starts, now has a "four-point edge over Hamilton and leads Argos by 10 points. Riders, with one win in nine outings, haven't a hope. Each club has five games left in the 14-game schedule, and only a mathematical miracle could give Argos a tie with the front-running Alouettes.

Sarnia Imperials wrapped up a playoff berth in the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union Monday, edging the winless Toronto Balm Beach 19-17 before 2,500 at Sarnia. The victory moved Imperials within four points of the front-running Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchman and assured them of a playoff spot. Beaches now have lost eight straight.

Alex Webster, the Big Four's leading scorer with 55 points, picked up three touchdowns Monday as Als splashed to their convincing win before 12,965 fans at Montreal.

The big halfback from North Carolina State shared the spotlight with Larry Grigg, as inch-deep mud kept play almost entirely along the ground. Grigg and Webster ripped the Ottawa line to shreds.

Webster capped long Montreal drives with plunges of 14 and nine yards for two of his touchdowns and took a 20-yard pass from Sam Etcheberry in the end-zone for another. End Hal Patterson pounced on an Ottawa fumble in the end zone for the fourth Montreal major. Ray Poole kicked three converts and Tex Coulter added a single.

At Toronto, quarterback Ed Songin turned in a spectacular display of passing. The tossing of the former Boston College quarter in the fourth-quarter drive was the big blow that sent Argos to their fourth successive loss and Hamilton to its fifth straight win.

Songin hit flashy Bernie Custia with the touchdown pass that broke the back of the Scullers and gave the Tiger-Cats a 16-13 lead after Tip Logan converted. Argos had wiped out a 9-0 lead and gone in front, 13-10.

Songin then went to town as he moved the Tiger-Cats downfield for Custis' touchdown and another on a pass to end Ray Ramsey after Ray Truant intercepted a pass deep in Toronto territory. It was Toronto's club last attempt at a rally and left them shattered and disorganized.

Ramsey's major was the third touchdown pass thrown by Songin. He connected on his first to Logan in the second quarter. Logan booted the converts on all three touchdowns to extend his streak to 104.

SERVICE CLUBS HEADED FOR GRID TEST SUNDAY

Sparks, fur and probably one undefeated record are due to fly next Sunday in the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League.

Next Sunday, HMCS Venture and Royal Roads, both undefeated powerhouse teams, are due to clash for the first time this season.

Both clubs kept their records clean Sunday in two league games.

The talent-loaded Royal Roads cadets who whipped Oak Bay, 40-0, in their first game of the season, clobbered C & C Taxi, 53-0, Sunday at MacDonald Park.

Venture, 40-11 winners over C & C in their first game, scored two touchdowns, one convert and two rouges to down a much-improved Oak Bay team, 13-0, at Colville Road.

Turnley Captures Coho Derby Honors

J. Turnley qualified as the Coho King of Cowichan Bay over the week-end.

Turnley waited until Monday, final day of the three-day Cowichan Bay Salmon Club Coho Derby to make his bid and he emerged the big winner.

The silver-sided, hook-nosed, 16.5-pound coho Turnley weighed-in Monday was the biggest fish entered in the three days, won him the $100 daily prize Monday and also brought him the Anchor Cafe Trophy, awarded annually for the biggest fish of the derby.

A fresh run of coho made fishing ideal for the many entrants and the smallest of the 53 winning fish was a respectable 8.3½-pounder taken Saturday.

P. Partridge of Victoria was close behind Turnley, his 16-pounder Saturday giving him first-place money for that day and making him runner-up for the trophy.

Reg Clarke of Victoria boated a 15.14-pounder Sunday for the second-day $100 prize.

Russia Gets Special Favor In Bid for World Hurdle Record

LONDON (AP)—Russian athletes Monday received an okay to attack an American stronghold of track and field—the 440-yard hurdles.

In an obvious bid to remove still another American record from the book, the Russian team here for the "Moscow vs. London" track and field meet Wednesday night asked for and received permission to race over the 440-yard hurdles distance instead of 400-metres.

All other track events except one will be over metric distances. The exception is the women's 800-yard run.

Until a year ago every world hurdle record was held by an American. Russia's Yuri Lituyev first broke the monopoly Sept. 20, 1953, in Budapest when he did 400 metres over 100 hurdles in 50.4—two-tenths better than Slat's Hardin's 19. year-old mark.

The same Lituyev, now more than 30 but still a magnificent hurdler, as well as Russia's other top hurdler, Anatoli Yulin, will try to smash the American held 440-yard mark of 51.6 seconds held by Charley Moore.

City Booters Stymied With Victory in Sight

Victoria City 1 North Shore United 1

The Victoria City soccer team deserved more than their first tie of the Coast Soccer League season Saturday afternoon, except for the fact that North Shore United deserved better than a loss.

As much as anything it was a policy of defensive football by City which enabled North Shore to get the tying counter five minutes from time in the 1-1 decision.

City took the initiative almost from the start, and from the time that Cedric Robb missed a grand chance with goalie Joe Travis at his mercy at eight minutes until John Pickburn scored from 25 yards out on a free kick at 11 minutes, it was evident that only a goal could be the proper result of the play.

Using a ground game effectively, City continued to hold the upper hand against their opponents and refused to allow a sometimes over zealous rugged defense to deter them.

CLOSE CALL
Robb was unfortunate in that he was half pushed by Anderson and half stumbled, one the result of the other, at the 15-minute mark, as once again he was partially in the clear.

At the other end Pete Winter tipped over the bar from Alex Reid a minute later and saved from J. Younger at 20 minutes. Then Bill McMillan and Geo. Wright had chances for City, Travis tipping over the bar from McMillan, and thus the pattern went, City had two good opportunities to every one for North Shore.

After the intermission, play roughened up considerably. Harry Carruthers, who spent a busy afternoon warding off the elbows off Alf Rutten, broke through at one minute only to shoot over the bar.

Winter then juggled from Robert Bruce as North Shore pressed, Travis clearing the ball off Carruthers' foot on the return of offensive.

NORTH SHORE REPLIES
City's next best chance came when Robb hit a long cross over Travis' head which hit the cross bar with the goalie beaten. But then Winter had to be good as North Shore jammed the goal area and forced four sensational stops in almost as many seconds.

The lone North Shore counter came as a result of this determined attack, Stan Bob hitting the cross bar before Gordie Lon pumped the rebound into the virtually unguarded net.

Centre-forward Tom Cooper was injured in goalmouth pile-up prior to the North Shore goal and suffered back injuries. City was coming on again near the close, but their last hope for victory went glimmering when Tim Walker and Chummy Crabbe broke through, Walker's hard ground shot missing the corner.

City's next home game is against Vancouver City here on Saturday.

Four Straight
VANCOUVER (CP)—Fire-fighters ran their undefeated streak to four games and stretched their first-place lead in the Coast Soccer League Saturday by blanking St. Andrews, 4-0, at Callister Park before more than 2,000 spectators.

ROYALS BLANK SHORES FOR FIRST LEAGUE WIN

VANCOUVER (CP)—New Westminster Royals displayed a well-organized brand of soccer Monday to defeat North Shore United, 3-0, in a Pacific Coast League match here.

It was New Westminster's first win in five starts. North Shore goalie Joe Travis fumbled a stop at the 37-minute mark of the first half, allowing the ball to cross the goal line for Royals' first point by Lawrence Salisbury.

The second marker came in the second half on Paul Fabris' long, dropping shot. Kenny Campbell sent across a perfect kick from left wing and Lex Henderson headed it in for the third goal with one minute of play remaining.

Olson to Risk Crown Against Giardello

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl Bobo Olson will risk his title for the third time since he won it in a fight with Britain's Randy Turpin by taking on the top-ranked contender Joey Giardello, of Philadelphia, in 15 rounds here Dec. 15.

Turpin was European champion and Olson the American title holder when they met.

The agreement announced on Monday came as a surprise. Olson, who has been in light training the last two weeks, had indicated strongly he planned no further title action this year for income tax reasons.

Giardello was operated upon last Wednesday for removal of torn cartilage from a left knee injured in a car crash. He now is in St. Agnes Hospital at Philadelphia but his surgeons said he should be able to start roadwork in a month.

The fight, to be nationally televised over the CBS network, will be staged at San Francisco's huge Cow Palace, where Olson decided Rocky Castellani on Aug. 22. Previously Olson defended the title against Kid Gavilan.

Dugan to Belleville

NANAIMO (CP)—Arnie Dugan, who said recently he would turn out as playing coach of the Nanaimo Clippers of the Island Amateur Hockey League, has now signed for Belleville.

FRANCHISE TALK

Oak Prexy Interested in Vancouver?

SEATTLE (AP)—Emil Sick, president of the Seattle Rainiers of the Pacific Coast League, said Monday night he and Oakland president Brick Laws will go to Vancouver Thursday to discuss the possible franchise switch of a PCL team to the Canadian city.

Sick refused to identify the PCL club which might be involved and declined to answer other questions about the forthcoming Vancouver meeting other than to say:

"Laws and I represent the league in investigating Vancouver as a possible Coast League city."

Presumably Laws and Sick will meet with Fred Hume, Vancouver's mayor and an avid sports fan, and Tommy English, president of the Vancouver entry in the Western International League, which disbanded Dec. 15.

"The strongest indications are that Laws himself is interested in moving the Oaks to Vancouver," the Seattle Post-Intelligencer commented.

Ottawa May Lose Professional Baseball

OTTAWA (CP)—There's talk that the Ottawa Athletics may not operate in the International Baseball League next year.

The final word rests with Philadelphia Athletics of the American League, the parent club. A decision must be forthcoming by Nov. 1, the date for signing a lease for Lansdowne Park, where home games are played.

Future of the club now is being discussed in Philadelphia and gossip says the club may be sold or the franchise transferred to a United States city, possibly in Florida, or Hull.

SPEAKING OF ATHLETES

Howe Greatest, Says Jack Adams

DETROIT (AP)—Jack Adams, general manager of the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, says the greatest athlete he ever saw is Gordie Howe.

Howe, a native of Floral, Sask., is the great right winger of the Stanley Cup holders, NHL scoring champion and a sparkplug of the Red Wings in their unprecedented drive to six successive NHL championships.

Writing Monday in a "Detroit news sports feature," "My Favorite," Adams said:

"To me, there's only one guy. He's right with me. He's the greatest athlete I ever saw—Gordie Howe."

"I saw Tommy Bridges of the Detroit Tigers pitch the last ring striking out the side to give Detroit the world series against the Cubs in 1935. I saw the famous 'long count' fight between Dempsey and Tunney at Chicago and a lot of drama in athletics in my life. This fellow has given me the greatest thrills of all."

"He could be a big leaguer in anything he did. Golf pros have told me they would have liked to work with him. Lou Boudreau said he could be a big league ball player, he has such a natural swing."

"Every tight manager who has come in the Wing dressing room has spoken of his possibilities. He can really handle himself. But I've got the handcuffs on him. He's under orders not to fight on the ice. He's more valuable to us playing hockey."

"He's got the natural ability

False Teeth Often Have a Certain Odor!

Soak your plates in Polident daily to avoid "Denture Breath"

Polident is the specially designed cleanser that keeps false teeth—and breath—clean and fresh always. Follow these simple rules:

1. Never use a brush on them! Your dental plates are much softer than natural teeth. Brushing wears down fitting ridges so they get loose.
2. Never use soap or toothpaste! They can leave film which collects bacteria and food particles, a major cause of offensive "Denture Breath."
3. Use a soaking-type cleanser made for false teeth only... Polident! Polident is the denture cleanser recommended by more dentists than any other. No brushing, no handling of soapy plates that can slip and break. Polident gets where a brush can't reach. Best of all, Polident always leaves false teeth, odor-free. Get the world's largest selling denture cleanser, Polident, at your drug counter.

RELAX YOUR TIRED EYES TRY THIS NEW KIND OF LIGHT BULB TONIGHT

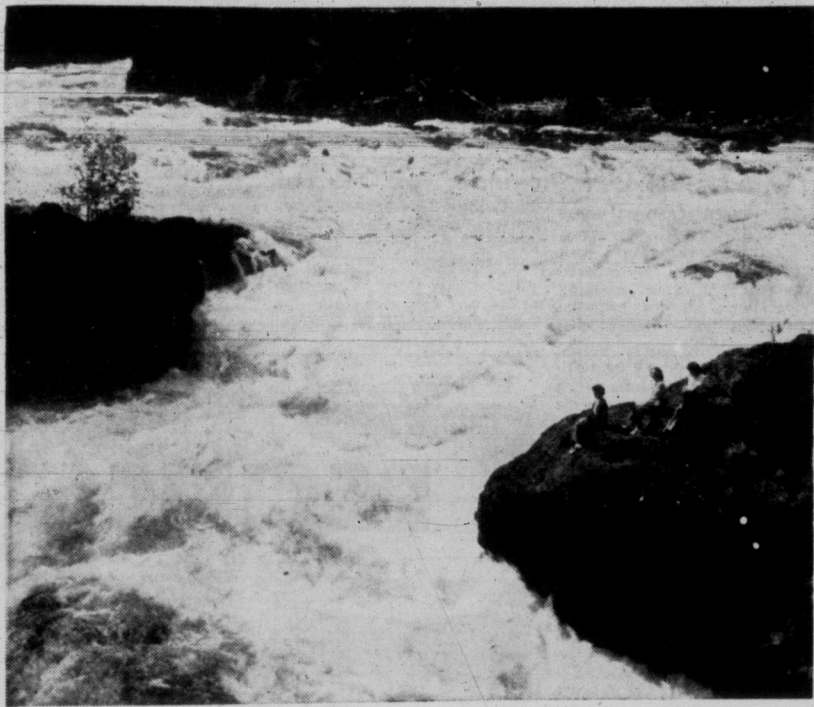

G-E's restful new WHITE BULB (right) glows evenly all over

Look at an ordinary lighted bulb and you'll see an annoying "bright spot" . . . an eye-tiring blotch of light that research men have tried to eliminate for years. But you won't see that "bright spot" in G-E's new White Bulb. G-E lighting scientists have built you a bulb that helps your eyes relax . . . sends out an even, mellow glow from the entire bulb surface. When you settle down to the evening paper or a bit of close work like sewing, that softly diffused light gives you extra hours of restful reading or working. Be sure the children have them for studies, too. Pick up a package of G-E White Bulbs and give them a try tonight. They are available in 60 watt, 100 watt and tri-light sizes.

What's news at Inco?
Soon... iron from a nickel mine
615 feet above some high ground near Copper Cliff, Ontario, the tallest chimney in the British Commonwealth will soon rear its nickel-chrome stainless steel crown.
It will be the symbol of a victory by Inco's research staffs over a problem that has defied solution for a great many years. The problem was how to extract iron from the nickel ore at a profit.
Inco's faith in its trail-blazing new process is being shown by the expenditure of $16 million on the first unit of a plant that will eventually produce a million tons a year of iron ore of a quality never before produced in quantity in North America.
This is but one of the history-making developments undertaken at Inco in recent years which have so far required the allocation of $160 million of Inco's own funds.
"The Romance of Nickel", a 72-page book, fully illustrated, will be sent free on request to anyone interested.

ON WAY TO VICTORIA CONVENTION

Foresters From East Envy Tree Gardens and Firs

By DON INGHAM, Times Island Editor
PORT ALBERNI—Close to 100 foresters, most of them from the vast pulpwood forests of Ontario and Quebec, will arrive in Victoria tonight after a two-day tour of the better-known "tree gardens" of Vancouver Island. They are delegates to the annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Forestry, scheduled to begin Wednesday morning at the Empress Hotel and to last for three days.

The tour started Monday, and was arranged to give the visitors an introduction to the coastal Douglas fir belt, and a working knowledge of the modern methods of forest use practiced on Vancouver Island. After a walk through stately Cathedral Grove at Cameron Lake, and a visit to the Alberni ranger station of the B.C. Forest Service, where the host was Ranger Dick Reaney, the party drove through the new and mature forests growing side by side on the lands of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. in the Ash River Valley on the west side of the Beaufort range.

Visitors saw examples of patch logging, whereby alternate tracts are logged in order that trees left standing can seed the bare land; methods of clear-cutting and burning slash to allow Douglas fir to grow once again; and the use of seed trees.

M. & B. foresters have tried to be more injurious to the young trees than horses."

David Radcliffe, MacMillan and Bloedel forester at Port Alberni who conducted the Monday afternoon trip, said the yield in the better timber stands of the Ash river region ranged from 40,000 to 80,000 board feet per acre.

The party spent today in a visit to the huge ultra-modern Somass division sawmill at Port Alberni, logging operations at Nanaimo river, the Harman pulp mill, and the B.C. Forest Service nursery at Duncan.

"Your trees and high-speed logging methods make it difficult for us to compete with you," said J. R. Blais, forest entomologist at the federal agriculture department laboratory in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., said the rough terrain here, where canyons, hills, rock bluffs, and deep gorges are common, is quite unlike that of Ontario.

"Your yield per acre also is much higher than ours," he said. "Our pulp forests produce about 10,000 feet per acre. As a result, our operations are of necessity of a more temporary nature, and must take advantage of the most favorable conditions of weather and terrain."

He said that while production had become close to 100 per cent mechanized in many areas that there was a marked return to the use of horses for yarding.

"Regeneration in our forests is through the maturing of young growth," he said. "Mechanical methods have proved

Car-Pole Crash Injures Couple

DUNCAN—A brother and sister from Ladysmith were seriously injured Sunday evening when their car went out of control at Berkeley's corner on the Lake Cowichan road and struck a telephone pole. Albert Oswald's leg was fractured and his face lacerated. His sister, Mrs. Tipton, suffered broken ribs, fractured jawbone and facial cuts. Both are in Kings Daughters Hospital here.

It was the second serious car accident in this area Sunday.

Mrs. Adelaide Piggott was killed in a head-on collision on the Island highway four miles north of Duncan and five other persons were injured. (See story page 1.)

TRAGIC END TO HOLIDAY TRIP

Icy Strait Kills Logger After 14-Foot Boat Sinks

CAMPBELL RIVER—A coroner's inquiry today was ordered into the death of Campbell River logger Eric Rannell, who died Saturday on the heaving deck of a Seattle seiner.

The crew of the seiner hauled Rannell from the icy Strait of Georgia off Cape Mudge in a driving rainstorm. Police said the victim must have stayed afloat for hours after his small 14-foot outboard sank.

Crew members of the seiner, "The Victory," said a strong tide rip forced them to "make two passes" before Russell could be dragged aboard with a boat hook.

The Victory's captain, George Harris, said Rannell "just gave a groan and went unconscious" when brought on deck. Crewmen Harold Agen and Robert Hayfield tried artificial respiration and the seiner raced for Campbell River, but Rannell was dead on arrival.

Rannell was employed at Hornby Creek logging operations, 25 miles north of here, and was on his way to join his wife and two small children at the Rainbow Auto Court for the holiday when his boat capsized.

Boy Crashes 60 Feet From Tree at Sooke

Skull Fractured in 'Lumberjack' Play

SOOKE—A nine-year-old boy was seriously injured Saturday when he fell 60 feet from a tree in which he was playing "lumberjack" with a young friend.

Peter Lindley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lindley, Sooke Road, is in Royal Jubilee Hospital with a fractured skull and broken leg. His condition was reported as fairly good this morning.

Peter and his playmate climbed a tree carrying a saw. They had "topped" it in true logging fashion, and had started to trim off limbs when the boy lost his hold and fell to the ground, striking head first.

He was unconscious when admitted to hospital.

Mrs. Fanny Butt Dead at Pt. Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Funeral services were held here Monday for Mrs. Fanny Marie Butt, 65, who died Friday afternoon at her home, 222 Second Avenue South.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Let us apply a little logic to the question of legalized sweepstakes.

If it is agreed that sweepstakes should be authorized for charities; and that they be supervised by the government, why not go a little further?

If the government is going to have the work of running the sweeps, the government should get in on the gravy. The sweeps should be used to raise the money necessary to run the country.

To make it simpler for all citizens to participate in the sweepstakes, payroll deduction plans should be made available to all those interested.

Even better, the payroll deductions should be made compulsory, so that the burden of providing national revenue would not be carried only by those who like to gamble a little.

Naturally, this compulsory payroll deduction would have to raise as much money as the present income tax.

And, in fairness to all, the deductions would have to be in proportion to income.

So that the government wouldn't need to set up complicated new machinery for the compulsory payroll deduction plan of sweepstakes, present department of finance employees could do the work.

Income tax offices across the land would then become collection agencies for the 'sweep.

Logical, isn't it?

Come to think of it, why change the present system? Keep on collecting income tax in the usual way, and let Hon. Douglas Abbott draw a taxpayers name once a month, and give him $100,000.

(Not forgetting to deduct his income tax from his winnings).

I have received further word on the eligibility of just plain dogs for dog obedience training certificates.

Mrs. D. B. Hudson, honorary secretary of the club, sends along a copy of the rules and regulations, which state, in part:

"Any dog capable of being registered as purebred (with the American or Canadian Kennel Clubs) is eligible for ... degrees, but if for any reason your dog cannot be registered it is still eligible for 'Club Trials' and, if successful, will be awarded a club certificate of merit, which, although not recognized by the Canadian Kennel Club, is for exactly the same standard of training as their own."

Hmmmmmm. "The same standard" but "not recognized by the Kennel Club."

I still think the Kennel Club is putting on the dog.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Fred Blakeney, president of the League of the Handicapped, will speak at a meeting of the Victoria Optimist Club at the Pacific Club at noon Thursday.

"Some Thoughts on the Conservation of the Natural Resources of B.C." will be given by Dr. D. B. Turner, director of conservation, department of lands and forests, at a meeting of the Chemical Institute of Canada Wednesday.

The meeting will take place in the department of mines laboratory, 540 Superior Street.

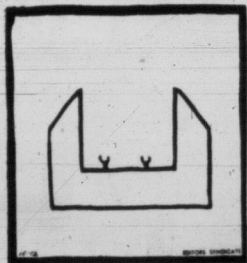

Struck by a puck at a hockey game at Memorial Arena Monday afternoon, 76-year-old Charles Frances, 1073 Foul Bay Road, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by police ambulance with a deep cut over his right eye. He was treated and released.

Victoria construction worker Emil Keff, 3749 Waring Place, was reported in good condition in Jubilee Hospital today following a miraculous escape from death Friday.

Keiff was wheeling cement for a new home when he fell and impaled himself on a steel rod.

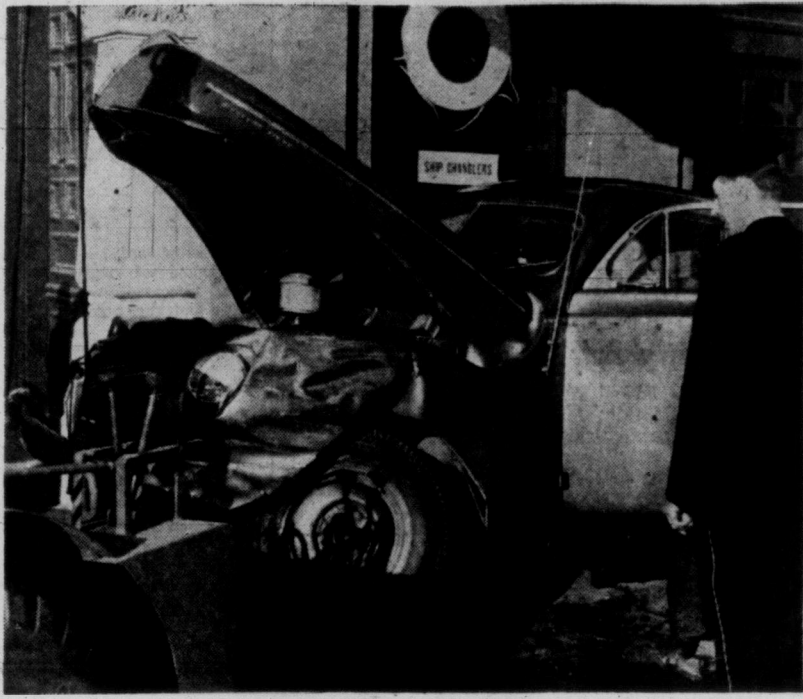

The provincial public works department agreed today to paint a cross-walk across the Island Highway at View Royal, for the protection of school children. J. H. Harding of the department made a brief survey this morning of the number of children crossing. He was assisted by an RCMP officer and a group of parents.

DROODLES

This Droodle was chosen as a tribute to C. Columbus, who discovered us, and also as a tribute to American Know-How, which has given us the traffic jam, the singing commercial and most important of all, Droodles. The success of the boat pictured above is causing a great rise in the demand for small basements. You'll notice it is the only boat ever built in which leaks can occur in only half of the bottom. Don't overlook the oarlocks either. At first you may wonder why both of the oarlocks are on the same side of the boat. There's a reason. This boat was designed for politicians who want to go round and round without getting anywhere. It can also be used by whirlpool explorers.

THE LATE ALBERT BARKER

Rites Thursday For CPR Veteran

With the death on Sunday of Albert George Barker, Victoria lost one of her colorful marine figures, well known to many residents of the city.

The late Mr. Barker joined the C.P.R. B.C. Coast Service in 1904 as freight clerk and was promoted to purser in 1907. He served on all the ships of the B.C. coast fleet.

He was on the Princess Charlotte when she first came to the west coast from Glasgow and was one of the officers who brought out the Princess Kathleen when she sailed from Clydebank, arriving in Victoria Feb. 13, 1925.

Mr. Barker, who retired from the CPR in 1938, was born in Weymouth, Eng., Oct. 23, 1873.

He leaves no known relatives.

Funeral service will be held Thursday morning at 11, at Hayward's Funeral Chapel, followed by cremation.

Cure Possible For 'Disease' Of Alcoholism

Alcoholics are suffering from a disease that should be treated in the same light as other sicknesses, J. George Strachan, executive director for the Alcoholism Foundation of Alberta, told a mass meeting here Sunday.

Regarded as one of the continent's foremost authorities on the problem of alcoholism, Mr. Strachan was speaking to a mixed crowd of about 400 in the Metropolitan Church.

It was the feature meeting of a week-end Island rally of Alcoholics Anonymous. The meeting was open to the public.

"As a result of the increasing awareness, knowledge and public education on the subject we now have a treatable, arrestable disease," he said.

Mr. Strachan lauded the B.C. government move in starting a foundation on alcoholism. In Alberta, he said, the co-operation from every direction in the fight on the alcoholic problem "has been terrific."

Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin, representing the B.C. government, spoke about the work of AA in the alcoholic field and said "that all countries now realize alcoholism is among their major problems."

He said the government from its present small beginning was planning a program on a provincial-wide basis. Mr. Martin estimated that 20 per cent of society was affected by alcoholism in one way or another and stressed that through AA it was estimated that 250,000 persons have found a way back to a sane life.

Traffic Convictions Cost 7 Total $510

Largest Fine $250 on Impaired Charge; Three Violations Recorded Over Week-End

Seven Victoria men were convicted in city and Saanich police courts this morning as a result of traffic violations, three of them over the holiday, and were fined a total of $510.

Lloyd E. Ward, 120 Kamloops, was fined $250 or 12 days' imprisonment and his license was suspended after he pleaded guilty in Saanich court to impaired driving on Douglas Street.

Police charged that Ward drove on the wrong side of the street near the intersection of Douglas and Cloverdale at a speed estimated at 45 miles an hour, was weaving over the road and before being stopped by police lost control of his car. He admitted a previous speeding conviction.

Fined $50 each in city court and prohibited from driving for three months were Lowell James Tomlinson, of Victoria, and Peter Finster, 936 Collinson, who were convicted of dangerous driving.

Police said Tomlinson was driving from Government along Niagara at speeds of 45-50 miles an hour and failed to stop at three stop signs while pursued by a patrol car.

Finster drove his car at about 40 miles an hour on Cook, police said, crossed the centre line, careened off a passing car, proceeded across Cook and then struck a parked car before coming to a halt.

Donald R. Clackson, HMCS Naden, was fined $35 after pleading guilty to careless driving and an additional $25 for not having a driver's license. He was arrested on Hillside after driving on the wrong side of the road and colliding with a parked car, causing about $300 total damage.

HIT POWER POLE

Ian P. Hjorsley, 3112 Glasgow, was convicted for careless driving and fined $40 with license suspension. He was said by police to have collided with a power pole at Bay and Cedar Hill Road, demolishing the front end of his car.

Police took him to Jubilee Hospital to be checked for injuries and said he smelled of alcohol. Hjorsley claimed he couldn't recall the accident because of amnesia following the impact.

Gerald Elliott, 564 Leaside, was fined $25 after pleading guilty to exceeding 30 miles an hour on Gorge Road. Police estimated his speed at 50 miles an hour.

Ernest A. M. Williams, 1946 Fernside, was fined $35 and his license was suspended when convicted of careless driving at Cook and Yates. Police said he was nearly involved in an accident.

Court to Settle Bus Hike Appeal

B.C. Cabinet Asks For Early Decision

The provincial cabinet today ordered appeals laid by B.C. mainland municipalities against B.C. Electric bus fare increases to be heard before the B.C. Court of appeal.

Convict Continues Court Fight

Appeals 4-Year Term For Vancouver Fire

A man who has pleaded his own cases and won two appeals against criminal convictions, continued his battle before the B.C. Court of Appeal today against a third conviction which would free him from serving a four-year term in penitentiary.

He is 26-year-old Peter Oscar Jorgenson, of Vancouver, convicted by an Assize Court jury of arson arising out of a fire in a film plant on Hastings Street in 1950. The accused was also convicted of two forgery charges, but the indictments were quashed by the Appeal Court last year.

Jorgenson in all his appeals has pleaded his own cases. He has been opposed by some of the province's leading lawyers.

Jorgenson appeared in court today with his mother. Surrounded by a stack of law books, the accused began his attempt to show the court the Crown had never proved that he had intended to start the fire. He claimed the blaze was started by a short circuit.

The case is continuing. John S. Burton is acting for the Crown.

Cabbie Who Saved Vancouver Woman To Be Buried Here

A taxi driver who Saturday gave his life so a woman passenger might live, will be buried here Thursday.

Funeral for Isfeld Arnason, 27, whose parents live at 3861 Cabbro Bay Road, will be held from McCall Bros. Thursday at 1 p.m., with interment in Royal Oak Burial Park.

He saved a woman passenger but not himself when his vehicle plunged into the waters of Vancouver's False Creek.

Rev. Canon Robert Willis will officiate at the service.

Ottawa Parleys Set By Federal Servant Chiefs

J. Bryant, national vice-president, and J. E. Carey, provincial vice-president of National Defense Employees' Association will go to Ottawa for an executive conference October 18-22. They will leave Saturday.

The delegates, both Esquimalt councilors, will interview government officials on semi-annual increases for lower paid workers, paid overtime, suggestions regarding B.C. health regulations and use of seniority or merit system for filling of vacant positions. Hours of work and salary rates for stationary engineers and firemen will also be discussed. Bi-weekly pay will be sought instead of present system of pay-days on 8th and 23rd of each month.

About 11,000 federal employees are members.

Cerebral Palsy Clinic Opening Set Saturday

Official opening of cerebral palsy clinic at Jubilee Hospital will be performed Saturday by Health Minister Eric Martin. Patients have been treated at the clinic for the past 20 months, increasing from seven in February, 1953, to about 30 today.

Heading a staff of four therapists plus medical people from the hospital is Dr. Murray Anderson, medical superintendent. Physiotherapist is Alice Mair; occupational therapist, Helen Beattie; speech therapist, Marie Crickman; and assistant physiotherapist, Mrs. Kay Stone.

B.C. Society for Crippled Children plans to obtain a bus which will assist transportation of palsy patients, and it is hoped that educational facilities may thus be provided for the children.

Rehabilitation is supplemented by home visits and treatment where required.

Hopes are that the clinic may be expanded shortly.

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black notified Chief Justice G. McGregor Sloan of the action after the cabinet made its decision.

The municipalities—Burnaby, North Vancouver, Richmond, and the cities of Vancouver, New Westminster and North Vancouver—are protesting recent fare increases granted the BCE by the Public Utilities Commission.

This is the first time such action has been taken since 1941. Date of the appeal court hearing was left to the discretion of the court.

However, Mr. Black said: "You will appreciate that the cabinet regards this matter as one of urgent public importance, and will be pleased to learn ... that you have appointed an early date for the consideration of the appeals."

The B.C. Electric will be allowed to file its reasons for asking the increase, and its answers to questions of fact raised by the appealing municipalities.

Park Pavilion Damaged in $2,000 Fire

Showers, dressing rooms and restrooms in Oak Bay's Windsor Park were gutted by fire Sunday night a short time after soccer teams had changed and gone home.

Damages were estimated today by fire officials as close to $2,000.

Firemen were called at about 7.30 p.m. and quickly quenched the flames, but the fast-spreading fire had already eaten out much of the interior of the building.

The premises were used by Oak Bay Wanderers rugby team, Oak Bay Drakes football team and an Oak Bay cricket team.

Officials said they had discovered no cause for the blaze.

Victoria Woman Beneficiary in $336,318 Will

An estate valued at $336,318 was left by Mrs. Eva Christine Prior, formerly of 1061 St. Patrick Street, who died here on May 12. She was the widow of C. J. Prior, former Victoria lawyer and deputy magistrate.

Chief beneficiary in the will, probated in Supreme Court, was her daughter, Marcia Louise Prior of Victoria, and two grandchildren.

The widow also bequeathed to her late husband's niece, Phyllis Prior of England, four gold rings set with sapphires and diamonds, a gold vanity case and two oil paintings of King Charles and King James of England.

Governors Mum After New Talks On Hewitt Affair

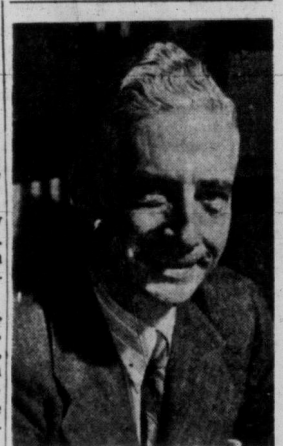

Board of governors of Shannan Lake School met here Friday on the contentious "Hewitt affair" at the school, but no public statement was released following the meeting.

The board was believed to have met to discuss a reply to Jamaica's accountant-general, N. B. Holtz, who is demanding an unequivocal apology from the school for its "color bar" action.

His daughter, Dorothy Holtz Hewitt, married to one of the teachers, says she was asked to leave because of the tint of her skin.

E. W. GRIFFITH ... Retires as Deputy

Lundy Named Social Welfare Deputy Minister

Health Minister Eric Martin today announced the appointment of C. W. Lundy, former director of welfare, to the position of deputy minister of social welfare.

Mr. Lundy succeeds E. W. Griffith, who retires at the end of October. He has had 21 years of service with the social welfare department from March, 1933, when he was first appointed relief investigator.

Black to Meet Co-Ordinator For CD Talks

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black scheduled talks today with B.C. civil defense co-ordinator Maj.-Gen. C. R. Stein as Victoria's local CD control board prepared for another meeting on the dismissal of the city's civil defense administrative staff.

Mr. Black said he would discuss the issue with Major-General Stein this afternoon.

Meanwhile, Frank T. Fairley, city MP, has wired Victoria's mayor from Kamloops, offering assistance in the problem.

His wire read: "Can I be of any assistance in resolving civil defense difficulties. Will be glad to make suggestion to federal authorities if necessary."

NO COMMENT

Major-General Stein, who has been absent from the city during the recent blow-up which resulted in the summary firing of all but one secretarial worker on the CD staff, declined comment.

"Let's wait till the smoke clears and we can see what it's all about," he said. "I understand the local board has a meeting scheduled for today, and something might come out of that."

Major Stein said provincial civil defense officials have not yet been notified the Victoria control board fired its staff, and for that reason no statement could be made at this time.

TIMES ASK The

Q—What was the date of the sinking of the Ss. Pacific? B.A.

A—Bound for San Francisco, that wooden vessel steamed out of Victoria Nov. 4, 1875, and that night was in collision with the Orpheus, a sailing vessel, off Cape Flattery. The exact loss of life will never be known. Estimates varied from 250 to more than 300. There were two survivors.

Q—Will you tell me if the Canadian Bar Association will recognize a correspondence course on law? In plain words, can one become an articulated lawyer through a correspondence course? M.S.

A—The qualifications for admission to the bar through-out Canada are determined on a provincial basis. The old system of the B.C. Law Society, under which intending lawyers received their training by being articled to practicing barristers, ended when the law school of the University of B.C. was established a decade ago. Now academic standing is required and so there is no correspondence course. The registrar of the University of B.C. will give information.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times." Editor questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Six Traditional Songs Illustrated on China

By PENNY SAVER

So often we feel we should give a little gift of appreciation, or as a remembrance of an anniversary or birthday... and so often we just can't seem to think of what to get that would be suitable to one particular person. Something with a thought behind it is always most welcome, no matter how small the gift.

Now if the person is a lady, middle-aged or older and if she comes from the old country (England, Scotland, Ireland or Wales, in this case), perhaps I can be of help, for there are many ladies in this category in Victoria.

A manufacturer of fine English bone china has introduced six new patterns for cups and saucers and each illustrates (and oh, so beautifully) an old traditional song.

For example, "Bonnie Banks of Loch Lomond" pattern is a picturesque landscape painting of the lake, mountains and trees... truly lovely. The pattern isn't broken at all, by notes from the song or words of it. If you don't recognize the scene, you'll have to turn the cup over and read the name of the pattern.

There's a typical Scottish countryside scene with a winding road and all to illustrate the song, "Road to the Isles," and "John Peel" is a pattern of scarlet-coated huntsmen on horseback, jumping over hedges and being closely followed by their beagles.

"Land of Hope and Glory"

shows an old English castle... it looks like Windsor, to me... and "Londonerry Air" shows a typical Irish scene, while "Men of Harlech" is illustrated by a scene in Wales.

Choose your friend's favorite song and then the pattern accordingly, and she'll love you for it!

Price is only $1.50.

Plan Country Fair

Discussing final arrangements for a country fair and antique display, which will officially open the new Oak Bay United Church Hall, Wednesday afternoon and evening, are members of the committee who met at the home of general convener, Mrs. F. Matkin, 2270

WHY GROW OLD?

Facial Exercise, Patting, Smooth Face Wrinkles

Yesterday I suggested the right kind of food, general exercise, facial exercises, skin lubrication and the beauty angle as first aids to prolonging youthfulness, both in health and in appearance. The beauty angle and facial exercises speed up the circulation in the face and neck.

You can also accomplish this by patting. It is much better to pat your cream into the skin than to massage it in. Pat very briskly along the jawline. Begin at the chin and pat along the jaw to each ear. Then pat more gently from the corners of the mouth to the temples.

You can massage, after applying cream, along the lines at the corners of the eyes, the line between the eyes and the horizontal lines on the forehead. If you have any of these. This massage should be most gentle and should travel ALONG the line rather than across it.

After massaging along these lines for a week you can actually feel that they have smoothed out some, or the lines on the forehead you must also remember not to lift your forehead or brows when you talk or think, work or read. For the frown line between the eyes you must also stop frowning. Often even people who have a happy disposition from this habit without realizing it.

After massaging the line between the eyes, remove the cream, smooth the line out and paste gummed tabs over the line. Leave them on all night. This makes a big difference over the months and years.

Committee Formed—At meeting of the Welcome Room committee at 625 Courtney Street a group was formed to look after those who through age or infirmity are unable to take advantage of the welcome room.

That facial exercises are helpful in keeping that youthful look is proven by the many letters I have had from readers and by observation. Usually when a woman looks years younger than she is, I have found that she has taken these as well as general exercises. Try this one.

Make a face like a rabbit does when he sniffs at something. This lifts the facial muscles. Hold for about five seconds. Relax and repeat. Do this just a few times the first day and gradually increase until you are doing it about 20 times.

If you would like to have my routine of facial exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9 "Facial Exercises," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

PERFUME THAT CLINGS

Q.—Dear Clair: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.

A.—A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a brand new fragrance medium by Houbigant called Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrances. Available in 2 Famous Fragrances: Chantilly and Queques Fleurs. Only $2.00.

Piped From St. Andrew's Following Friday Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. William James Griffin were piped from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church following their wedding Friday evening, to the melody "Highland Wedding" by Pipe-Major A. D. Pollock.

Chantilly lace over nylon tulle formed a bouffant gown for the attractive bride. Neckline was scalloped and an opening at front of the skirt revealed a panel of butterfly pleats. She wore a dainty lace jacket, the Peter Pan collar embroidered with seed pearls. A coronet of seed pearls and rhinestones held her veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white heather.

Pauline Huckin, Richard Patterson Married in St. Martin's Church

Arturo Toscanini Won't Return to U.S.; To Conduct Falstaff at 'Little Scala'

MILAN, Italy (Reuters)—Sunday night at Bergamo said Conductor Arturo Toscanini has decided not to return to the United States where he has lived for 25 years, it was learned Monday night.

Professor Guido Zavattini, a life-long friend of the 87-year-old conductor, who visited him direct "Falstaff." Verdi's last opera at Milan's "Little Scala"—a theatre seating 400 persons and adjoining the famed Scala Opera House where Toscanini conducted before he went to New York.

The maestro came home from the U.S. four months ago.

Telephone Tie-Up Threatens Three Northwest States

SEATTLE (AP)—Efforts to head off a threatened strike of 11,700 Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. employees in the three Pacific Northwest states continued Tuesday.

CIO Communications Workers of America negotiators representing 7,000 PT and T employees in Washington and Idaho went into session with company representatives who Monday offered raises with a top of $2.50 a week.

Douglas Chisholm, special CWA representative in Seattle, termed the offer unsatisfactory because while it meets the union demand for a top minimum it falls below the demand for the lower classifications.

(A) "MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION" (Odeon) — Warning: This rating is intended for the ladies or for men who like to weep at the movies.

Actually this Universal-International re-make of the late Lloyd Douglas' novel is surprisingly well done. Although it isn't as subtle as the 1935 version (starring Robert Taylor and Irene Dunne) it packs the same powerful Christian message of anonymously tending a helping hand to those who need it that carried Mr. Douglas' story to the top of the best-seller list.

The plot, in brief: Dr. Phillips dies of a heart attack. The pulmonologist, which might have saved his life is being used to revive young Walter Rock Hudson whose sailing boat has capsized.

Later, Hudson tries to pay the doctor's widow, Jane Wyman, $25,000 to make up for what he has done. This is rejected. Still later he causes the widow to be injured in a car accident and she loses her sight.

AS TIME GOES by the repentant young ne'er-do-well falls in love with the widow, soaks up her husband's philosophy and takes up the medical career he once so carelessly had thrown away. Eventually he becomes a great brain surgeon and performs the delicate operation that brings back the widow's eyesight.

Of necessity a play of this type must be handled gently or pathos becomes bathos. Time after time this is escaped by the narrowest of margins. Fortunately Miss Wyman's skill pushes back the soap-operatic

Apples GOOD are for you!

B.C. Apples, with their fresh crispness, juicy-eating goodness and lively, exciting flavor, add color and attractiveness to every meal... "wake up" sleepy appetites. B.C. Apples are nearly one-seventh pure, quickly-used food energy... a quick and nutritious refresher when you're tired. And—because an average B.C. Apple supplies only 87 calories—they have a definite place in low-calorie diets.

Besides tasting so good, an apple eaten after a meal gives your gums stimulating, beneficial massage, helps clean your teeth, leaves your mouth sweet and clean. Make it a rule in your house to top off every meal with a crackling-good B.C. Apple!

B.C. Apples are as wholesome and nourishing as they are appetite-appealing. No matter what your age, apples can make a worthwhile contribution to your general well-being... help make life seem that much sunnier. Remember, an apple a day is Nature's way—be sure to eat at least one B.C. Apple each and every day!

Why an apple a day?

Apples have been eaten, and enjoyed, for many centuries—because people liked them and felt that apples were good for them. Sound reasoning, too—because today we know just how important a place the apple can fill in our everyday diets.

The apple is one of Nature's most perfect "food packages". Inside its crisp, glossy skin... locked in its tangy, taste-tempting flesh, are many of those things you need every day—in the form you like best!

Stop Smoking Cigs, Cancer Experts Warn

Now Sufficient Evidence to Warrant Ban, U.S. Public Health Association Advises

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Public Health Cancer Association voted Monday to advise the public to stop smoking cigarettes in order to reduce the incidence of lung cancer.

The resolution said there now is sufficient evidence of a relationship between smoking cigarettes and lung cancer.

It urged American youth to "ponder well the question of whether the risk involved in cigarette smoking is worth the pleasure gained."

The resolution, offered by Dr. Morton L. Levin, assistant New York state health commissioner, was passed by a 13-to-3 vote.

Dr. Levin said that, to his knowledge, the association is the first public cancer group to specifically advise the public against smoking cigarettes.

The association is composed principally of public health officers and professional persons working to combat cancer.

The resolution followed a panel discussion by six physicians and statisticians, who said they thought cigarettes were a "major factor in causing lung cancer."

Not since I learned about Kruschen! I didn't find it any too soon, either. My job was getting too much for me, and when I got home at night, I was surly as a bear with my family. A chap at work put me on to Kruschen and now I wouldn't be without it. Just a little in my morning coffee when needed sets me up for the day. U.K. Tightens Some Security Procedures

Fyfe Explains Specific Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sir David Maxwell Fyfe, British Home Secretary, says Britain has tightened some of its security procedures following disclosure of several risks in high places.

In a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News and World Report, Fyfe was asked what had been the results on Britain's policies of such cases as those of atomic scientist Klaus Fuchs, Allan Nunn May and foreign office officials Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean.

He said there had been two specific changes made in the judging of persons as possible security risks.

"One is positive as well as negative 'vetting' (examination)" he said. He explained that by negative vetting he meant checking up on people by inquiring from others about them, while "positive vetting means that they've got to answer questions themselves, give references and so on."

The other change in standards, Sir David said, is increased consideration given early affiliations of persons under security checks. He said that, for example, if a person in a university at 17 or 18 affiliated with some doubtful organization, "it would be taken into account. It wouldn't be decisive, but it would have to be considered along with how he spent the rest of his life and how seriously he was involved."

Sir David, whose job includes supervision over control of subversive activities in Great Britain, indicated he could not agree that the British took a more casual view of the danger of Communist infiltration than do Americans. He said: "We recognize the problem. We have our method of dealing with it. Yes you are right—we are concerned about it—but not worried about it."

N.Y. Coffee Exchange Blamed For Substantial Price Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission Monday charged the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange has unlawfully restrained international trade in coffee and thereby "promoted substantial increases" in prices.

The complaint named the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, Inc., four of its officers and eight of its members, and also the New York Coffee and Sugar Clearing Assn., Inc.

The FTC said, in announcing the complaint, that it was a follow-up to the economic study of the coffee market made by the FTC last spring.

In its report on this study, the FTC said last July that the sharp increases in coffee prices during 1953 and early 1954 "cannot be explained in terms of the competitive laws of supply and demand."

Plane Armada, 100 Searchers Scouring Area

By TONY DICKASON
Times Staff Reporter

PARKSVILLE—An RCAF Expediter aircraft with four men aboard believed to have crashed Sunday in the rocky jaws of Mt. Arrowsmith, 100 miles north of Victoria, was still missing at press time today.

Fog shrouded the mountain Monday making it impossible for even helicopters to get low enough to conduct a thorough search of the tangled, craggy wilderness.

Today was the first opportunity searchers from the air had a good chance to view the mountain. Visibility was excellent.

The aircraft was on a routine flight from Vancouver to Tofino on the west coast of Vancouver Island and was last heard from at 1:30 p.m. Sunday over Lantzville.

FOUR MISSING

Aboard the missing plane are FO L. E. Oppenheimer, 24, of Winnipeg and Vancouver, pilot of the craft, FO Michael Saunders, 22, of Bristol, England, Sgt. Ldr. H. G. Stibbards, chaplain at RCAF headquarters, Vancouver and R. D. Hall, a department of Transport official, believed from Montreal, Sgt. Ldr. Stibbards was being flown to the RCAF station at Tofino to conduct weekly religious services.

Today 16 aircraft combed the 6,000-foot mountain and vicinity, including two RCAF helicopters and a helicopter from the U.S. Coast Guard.

When the missing craft last radioed in, it was 6,500 feet above Lantzville, heading directly towards the craggy peaks of the mountain.

THREE HELICOPTERS

At dawn today, 6:30 a.m., the two RCAF helicopters, each with a three-man crew, took off for the mountain from Parksville, 15 minutes flying time away.

The first helicopter, piloted by Pete Cornwall of Okanagan Helicopter Ltd., touched back at 7:45 a.m.

"We didn't see a thing," he said.

The second helicopter returned at 8:30 a.m. Pilot Fred Snell, also with Okanagan, said "we flew over the top of the mountain, and all around it. We saw nothing."

An RCAF search party was in the field shortly after the twin-engine Beechcraft failed to report in after Lantzville, and soon after noon today was waiting on the mountain's snow line for further instructions from searchmaster Sgt. Ldr. G. L. Sheahan, directing operations from Comox air base.

100 SEARCHING

More than 100 RCAF personnel, police and other officials are directly engaged in scouring the area, together with dozens of volunteer hunters and members of the forest service.

A six-man search party high on the slopes was scheduled to return to the mountain's base and report on whether or not the fresh snow was too dangerous to proceed further afoot. If the tricky white-blanketed slopes can be traversed, four or five additional parties will be fielded, covering the mountain from all angles.

The ground party is in touch with the air base at all times by radio, but some confusion was caused this morning when interference developed from an unknown source.

In Parksville waited the RCAF medical officer, Flt. Lieut. M. S. Molochow, Sea Island, together with FO D. L. Goodcock, Comox, in charge of ground search operations. A

Mendes-France Easily Wins Confidence Vote

French Assembly Backs Arms Pact, Foreign Policies

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly today gave Premier Pierre Mendes-France a resounding vote of confidence in his foreign policies, endorsing the London accords for West German rearmament. Unofficial reports gave the premier 365 votes. An absolute majority is 314.

Members of the premier's own Radical-Socialist moderate party, various centre and right-of-centre groups, followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle and most of the French Socialists made up the majority backing Mendes-France.

The Socialist party's national executive had decided Monday night to authorize the 104 Socialist deputies to support Mendes-France on the general principles of the nine-power accord which would put arms again in the hands of 500,000 German troops, this time for Western defense.

In the final stage of the debate today, each parliamentary group was restricted to one speaker.

Mendes-France staked the life of his government on the confidence vote. Failure to gain a majority would mean his immediate resignation and possibly new national elections. Success would give him a solid mandate to continue negotiations with the other Western powers later this month when the nine foreign ministers meet here to fill in details of the London accords.

Nehru Would Like To Retire Temporarily

NEW DELHI, India (UP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today he would like to "retire temporarily" as the head of India's government.

But he emphasized that he has no intention of "withdrawing into the wilderness."

Nehru, who earlier had described himself as weary and anxious to be relieved of the duties of leading India's Congress Party, said he would welcome temporary retirement as prime minister in order to regain freshness of outlook.

5,500 Ford Workers Strike at Windsor

Rain-Drenched Pickets Guard Plant, Offices; No Violence Reported; 11th-Hour Talks Fail

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Rain-drenched pickets from Local 200, UAW-CIO, guarded all gates of the Ford of Canada plants and offices today, the first full working day since the strike of 5,500 production workers took effect. Office workers squeezed through the lines of pickets after only casual checking.

Some maintenance workers were asked to get union passes before being admitted. There was no sign of violence but added delay, because of the checking process, caused a traffic tie-up at the plant.

A mass membership meeting was held at the Windsor arena, where union leaders brought up to date the failure of negotiations.

Workers in the powerhouse property of the company remained on their jobs. Company offices were set up in a downtown hotel.

The strike action was called by Local 200 officials as scheduled at 9 p.m. (CST) Sunday after desperate talks under Ont.

Death First Termed 'Accidental Fall'; Charge May Be Laid

Death of a Sooke hunter Saturday, at first reported due to an accident fall, took a new turn today when it was disclosed there was a bullet in his spine.

Police, investigating the case, said a charge of murder may be laid, but declined details until their investigation is complete.

The dead man is Ivan "Bud" Nelson of Elder's Logging Camp.

An inquest has been tentatively set for Thursday but so far no autopsy has been held and police are awaiting a ruling from the Attorney-General's department.

The bullet was apparently discovered while a party of stretcher bearers labored to bring the body from the Muir Creek area. The body was found in battered condition at the foot of a 100-foot cliff.

A corporal and a constable from the CIB of the Victoria detachment RCMP drove to Sooke and hiked overland to the death scene this morning. Corporal D. G. Rogers and Constable Keith McKenzie wore bush clothing and took ropes with them. It is expected the capir will investigate the cliff face before any charge is laid.

Four Men Lost On Arrowsmith

RCAF Expediter Believed Crashed On Way From Vancouver to Tofino

By TONY DICKASON
Times Staff Reporter

PARKSVILLE.—An RCAF "Expediter" aircraft with four men aboard believed to have crashed Sunday in the rocky jaws of Mt. Arrowsmith, 100 miles north of Victoria, was still missing at press time today.

Fog shrouded the mountain Monday making it impossible for even helicopters to get low enough to conduct a thorough search of the tangled, craggy wilderness.

Today was the first opportunity searchers from the air had a good chance to view the mountain. Visibility was excellent.

The aircraft was on a routine flight from Vancouver to Tofino on the west coast of Vancouver Island and was last heard from at 1:30 p.m. Sunday over Lantzville.

Aboard the missing plane are FO L. E. Oppenheimer, 24, of

Sixteen Aircraft in Search

Today 16 aircraft combed the 6,000-foot mountain and vicinity, including two RCAF helicopters and a helicopter from the U.S. Coast Guard.

When the missing craft last radioed in, it was 6,500 feet above Lantzville, heading directly towards the craggy peaks of the mountain.

At dawn today, 6:30 a.m., the two RCAF 'copters, each with a three-man crew, took off for the mountain from Parksville, 15 minutes flying time away.

The first 'copter, piloted by Pete Cornwall of Okanagan Helicopter Ltd., touched back at 7:45 a.m.

"We didn't see a thing," he said.

The second helicopter returned at 8:30 a.m. Pilot Fred Snell, also with Okanagan, said "we flew over the top of the mountain, and all around it. We saw nothing."

An RCAF search party was in the field shortly after the two-engine Beechcraft failed to report in after Lantzville.

A six-man search party alight on the slopes was scheduled to return to the mountain's base and report on whether or not the fresh snow was too dangerous to proceed further afoot. If the tricky white-blanketed slopes can be traversed, four or five additional parties will be fielded, covering the mountain from all angles.

The ground party is in touch with the air base at all times by radio, but some confusion was caused this morning when interference developed from an unknown source.

In Parksville waited the RCAF medical officer, Flt. Lieut. M. S. Molochow, Sgt. Island, together with FO D. L. Woodcock, Comox, in charge of ground search operations. A

Police Find Bullet in Man's Spine

RCMP Await A-G's Instructions On New Element in Nelson Death

RCMP said today a charge of murder may be laid in connection with the death of a Sooke hunter who died Saturday from what originally was believed to have been an accidental fall.

Police took new interest in the case when it was discovered the dead man, Ivan "Bud" Nelson, of Elder's Logging Camp, had a bullet in his spine.

An inquest has been tentatively set for Thursday but so far no autopsy has been held and police are awaiting a ruling from the Attorney-General's department.

The bullet was apparently discovered while a party of stretcher bearers labored to bring the body from the Muir Creek area. The body was found in battered condition at the foot of a 100-foot cliff.

A corporal and a constable from the CIB of the Victoria detachment RCMP drove to Sooke and hiked overland to the death scene this morning. Corporal D. G. Rogers and Constable Keith McKenzie wore bush clothing and took ropes with them. It is expected the pair will investigate the cliff face before any charge is laid.

Bullet Pierced Lung, Missed Heart

The 22-year-old logger was shot by a rifle bullet which reportedly pierced his lung, missed the heart and drove itself into his spine.

He is survived by his wife, the former Daisy Pelke of Saanich. The couple recently had their third child.

Nelson is said to be one of a family of 14, well-known in Sooke. His father is described as a soldier.

Original reports of Nelson's death came from the lips of a younger half-brother, Jimmy Nelson, who ran a mile through rugged heavily-brushed country to bring aid.

He arrived breathless at Elder's Logging Company where he sobbed out a hysterical story to Max Elder. The dead man was followed by Jimmy's directions, the search party found the body. "It looked as though he had fallen on his head," Mr. Elder recalled later.

The body was still 50 feet above the creek level and the stretcher carriers had difficulty in bringing it down. The men were about to set out for the road when Tommy Nelson, who is described as stepfather to the dead man, arrived. He had heard of the fall at the logging camp and set out by himself. He helped carry out the body.

THREE-HOUR STRUGGLE

It took three hours to struggle back to the road with the body which weighed about 210 pounds. The ground surface is so rugged and so heavily brushed that one 200-foot stretch held up the grim cavalcade for three-quarters of an hour.

The body was taken to Thompson's Funeral Home in Victoria by Langford ambulance. The inquest will be held there with Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart presiding.
